ENJOIN TIMILTY'S BROTHER

Judge Frederic B. Greenhalge, in superior court, today issued a temporary injunction restraining Walter H. Timilty, brother of Police Commissioner Joseph F. Timilty, and the Elk Laundry, Inc., from enlisting aid of police in soliciting laundry business.

The judge announced that he would not enjoin the police commissioner or police officials, and this was agreed to by George R. Farnum, counsel for the plaintiffs—Thomas C. and George L. Stretch, partners in Suffolk Apron & Towel Co.

"It is perfectly apparent," said Judge Greenhalge, "that Mr. Timilty has no right to use the police force in the solicitation of business.

"I do not say he has. That is a matter to be decided."

Commissioner Timilty himself was not present in the courtroom crowded with spectators, mainly lawyers, but he was represented by Atty. Francis T. Leahy and Timilty's personal legal aide, Andrew Gorey.

Judge Greenhalge

Also there was a police stenographer present and taking notes.

Atty. Leahy, turning to newspapermen present, said:

"I see that the newspapermen are here. I would like to say that the police commissioner denies all these charges."

Pleading in the action brought by the Stretch brothers will be completed by Friday, and the probability is that the hearing will be set for within two weeks from that date.

There is a second and similar action by another company already filed and returnable net Monday on a request for an injunction.

The plaintiffs in both actions charge that their business has sustained serious damages from alleged unfair practices by police.

WALSH SET TO BACK 3D TERM

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28 (AP)—Sen. Walsh (D.) of Massachusetts, who has opposed some major administration policies, said today he would not "be a party to any opposition" to a third term for President Roosevelt.

He added a forecast that only presidential intervention would block renomination, since it "appears this is the general sentiment in and out of Congress."

Walsh, chairman of the naval committee, is up for re-election himself this year. He has split with the administration over the neutrality act and reorganization of government departments and the Supreme Court.

Walsh told reporters he would support Postmaster-General Farley for the presidency at the Democratic convention "if the opportunity comes," but added:

"I certainly have no intention of opposing the President's renomination if by silence or otherwise he indicates willingness to accept it."

The state Democratic organization in Massachusetts has pledged its slate of candidates for delegates to the national convention to Farley, with the understanding they will be released to support President Roosevelt for a third term if such a move is made at the convention.

Walsh added that his suport of the President would be forthcoming "if there is a genuine and overwhelming demand in the convention for him."

FINNS STAVE OFF SOVIET THRUSTS

HELSINKI, Feb. 28 (AP)—Finnish bombing planes continue to strike at Russian communications and troop concentrations while land forces have repelled continued Red army attempts to follow up its advantage on the Karelian Isthmus, the Finnish army's daily communique said today.

The communique, however, gave but little indication of the extent of the isthmus fighting, which was believed to be raging undiminished in intensity.

The Finnish high command, in only a brief reference to Russia's important drive on Viipuri on the Karelian isthmus, today said the "enemy suffered heavily" in fighting in which the Finnish troops "fought defensive actions."

TANKS DESTROYED

In this fighting, which occurred yesterday, several Russian tanks were destroyed, the Finns said, and "artillery activity was lively on both sides."

This was the least space given to the isthmus fighting in the daily communique for some time. Yesterday's statement disclosed that the Russians were threatening to encircle Viipuri with a drive across the island-dotted and ice-crusted bay of Viipuri.

Of the war in the air the high command said that "enemy air ac-

AMSTERDAM, Feb. 28 (AP)—Foreign planes flying high over the Netherlands, on the direct air route between Germany and Britain, drew heavy anti-aircraft gunfire early today without apparent results.

The chief of the Amsterdam air defense district, Lieut.-Gen. Van Ermel Scherer, said 10 planes were fired on, but were so high that the possibility of hits was small.

'Watch Balkans in Spring,' Experts Say

By KENNETH DOWNS
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WITH THE FRENCH ARMIES ON THE WESTERN FRONT, via Clipper (INS)—Now that the apex of Europe's hardest winter in decades is passed, we approach a zero hour of this strange and potentially most terrible war.

After the thaws and with the warm weather and longer days of spring, will come great events. No one knows what these events will be and there is a great difference of opinon on what they may be. But that the war will pass from its present stage of virtual hibernation to a phase of tremendous and possible catastrophic activity, no one doubts.

Before speculating on the future, let's examine facts brought out by the first winter of the war.

First and most important: The winter has demonstrated that the Allies are capable of fighting a waiting war.

Anyone who spent any time in England and France during the early months of the war can attest to this fact.

MORALE HOLDS FIRM

It is probably difficult for anyone unacquainted with the dampish cold of the continent to realize what the troops went through on the Western Front in December and January. The mercury never dropped lower than 15 below Fahrenheit, but, brother, when it was that cold, it was COLD.

The troops took it in stride, while behind the lines the civil population willingly accepted many sacrifices.

Meantime, the army has toiled steadily at deepening and perfecting its defenses, armament production has soared, and the complicated economic machinery of the war has been assembled and set in motion.

Now that the unique "bloodless" phase of the war has passed without the crackup in allied morale upon which at least part of the German leadership is said to have banked, what will the coming weeks produce?

WATCH THE BALKANS

German military dispositions are such that an offensive could be launched in any one of several directions on short notice. There are about 90 divisions along the western front, from Denmark to Switzerland, with the spearhead pointed at Belgium from the Aix-La-Chapelle region. Roughly 30 divisions are in Poland and 20 to 25 in Czechoslovakia with other forces in Austria and held in reserve at central points in the Reich.

Thus, there could be a massive offensive on the western front, including Belgium and Holland. There could be an attempt at invasion of Sweden, a drive to the Black Sea through Roumania, or an attack on Yugoslavia to cut the Mediterranean.

No one knows where the lightning will strike. But many veteran observers say watch the Balkans.

Baby-Slaying Mother Sentenced to Chair

PHILADELPHIA, Feb. 28 (AP)—Mrs. Tillie Irelan, 35, who pleaded guilty to smothering her 20-month-old son and dismembering his body, was found guilty of murder in the first degree today and sentenced to die in the electric chair.

The former domestic who predicted earlier she would "beat the rap" paled as Judge Harry S. McDevitt pronounced sentence. That was her only sign of emotion. She said quietly:

"I have nothing to say."

Mrs. Irelan, haughty and defiant when first arested, changed her plea three weeks ago and admitted she killed her son and cut up his body with a hackhaw last Dec. 15. The torso was found in a gutter near Temple University.

During testimony to fix the degree of guilt, she maintained she smothered her child because he was "not normal."

Her counsel announced h would appeal.

Thec hild's father was cleared of any connection with the death.

Arrest of the slayer-mother came 24 hours after discovery of the child victim's paper-wrapped torso by a passing autoist who spied the blood-stained parcel in a gutter.

Tracing of the crime to Mrs. Irelan resulted from clever detective work by Philadelphia police.

CLEVER POLICE WORK

They found the name "Tillie" and the number, "1750," faintly scrawled in pencil on a cross-word puzzle in the section of newspaper which had been used to wrap the baby's torso.

Police went doggedly to work, checking every street which had a house upon it with the figure "1750" in the address.

This checkup led to a rooming house where the landlady reported she had had a tlenant who called herself Tillie Irelan.

Search of the house revealed the head, arms and legs of the murdered baby, packed in a suitcase in a closet.

Confronted with the gruesome evidences of her crime, the mother broke down and confessed.

TOLD VARIED STORIES

First, she allegedly said she wanted to get rid of thec hild so that she could be free to attend parties and go out with men friends.

Later she was quoted as saying she believed the baby mentaly abnormal and killed it so it wouldn't grow up an idiot.

Police claimed real reason for the crime was young Mrs. Irelan's fear a man suitor would throw her over if he learned seh was a mother.

Authorities vainly attempted to find evidence supporting a report Tillie had two other children, who also disappeared.

BARBER IS HELD IN CAFE KILLING OVER ONE WORD

Two men—at a bar—arguing over the existence or non-existence of one word—and today one man was dead and the other was under arrest accused of slaying him.

Nor can he, or any of the witnesses, remember now what the word was that brought on what police call Boston's most futile murder.

Dead as a result of the wrangle is Charles W. Mahoney, 46, of Greaton rd., West Roxbury, clerk in the Boston tax collector's office and former student at Holy Cross College and Georgetown University.

Arraigned today in West Roxbury court and charged with murder was Julius C. (Charlie the Barber) Guinta, 58, of Union ave., Jamaica Plain, itinerant barber temporarily employed on the WPA.

He waived examination, pleaded not guilty to the murder charge, was held without bail by Judge Daniel W. Casey, and then was sent to Charles street jail to await grand jury action.

QUARREL OVER WORD

Guinta didn't go to college, but it was a word he used, police said he told them, that started the quarrel.

Vainly today he tried to recall the word, and vainly police attempted to learn what it was from witnesses who were present in the tavern at Washington and Green sts., Jamaica Plain, when Mahoney, his throat slashed from ear to ear, dropped to the floor and died last night.

The witnesses said they never had heard the word before and they reported that Mahoney had taken direct issue with "Charlie the Barber" over its existence.

"There's no such word in the English language," Mahoney asserted, according to witnesses' stories to police.

"Yes there is," persisted Guinta. "I know what I am talking about. You think because you went to college, you know everything."

Then, said the witnesses, the argument progressed into the advantages and disadvantages of a college education and a worldly education, and it became somewhat confusing.

GIVES HIMSELF UP

Police said they were told, by the barber as well as other witnesses, that suddenly Mahoney hauled off and punched Guinta in the face, rocking him back from the bar, bringing blood spurting from his nose.

Guinta allegedly seized a razor—some said from a bag, some others from his pocket—lunged back at Mahoney and slashed the clerk's throat, Mahoney tottering only a few feet, with his hand attempting to stem the blood, before he crumpled to the floor.

He died almost immediately.

Less than 20 minutes later, Guinta walked into Jamaica Plain police station in Seaverns ave., several blocks away, and said to the officer on the desk:

"Here I am. Are you looking for me?"

It was Mahoney's custom to drop into the tavern before taking a bus on his way home at night. Andrew Murphy, the bartender, who lives on Boylston st., Jamaica Plain, said the two began to argue in angry tones and he went over twice and quieted them.

The slain man had been an employe of the city for 16 years. He leaves a wife, Margaret M. Scannell Mahoney, and a daughter, Joan, 7.

WIFE WHO 'CRAVED LOVE' TAKES STAND

A pretty, 22-year-old bride of a year, Mrs. Norma Druker of Newton, today was called to take the stand in Suffolk Superior Court to tell of financial and marital difficulties with the husband who charges affection was her strongest suit.

He is Harold Druker, Boston attoroney, who is contesting her claims to $14,500 which she allegedly gave him to invest in a Weymouth theater and real estate ventures.

Before Judge Paul G. Kirk, Druker already has claimed that his pretty young bride was always craving affection and had refused a reconciliation with him on that basis.

The lawyer-defendant stated that he and his wife separated last November, after a quarrel. The money used for investments, he maintained, was given him as her dowry.

"I came home and found her gone on Nov. 27," he told the court. "The next day her mother came over to see me and said it was all over and that there didn't appear to be much chance of a reconciliation.

"She told me I wasn't giving her daughter enough affection. She said she was not getting as much affection as a young girl of her type craved.

"Then her mother asked me if I was going to turn over the money. I told her it was all tied up in business and that I couldn't. I thought there were more importan' things than money to discuss.

"I told my wife's mother that I had given everything that I could to make her happy. I didn't drink or smoke or go out nights.

"I told her mother that my wife knew the quiet type that I was before we were married."

Mrs. Druker is seeking to compel a conveyance of the Weymouth property.

Stork Brings Baby As Death Takes One

For the tiny son snatched away so tragically just a week ago, another was give back to them today.

Joy, mingled with bitter memory, filled the hearts of Mr. and Mrs. Cornelius Brynes of Mt. Vernon st., Somerville, as they revealed the birth of a six-pound boy to them last Sunday at Sunnyside Hospital—a week after they lost 11-months-old Cornelius, Jr., under the wheels of a truck.

Little Cornelius died instantly as the father flung himself desperately, but futilely, under the truck in an effort to save the child's life.

Father and son had gone out to celebrate the latter's first ride on a sled. A heavy coal truck backed over the sled, crushing the baby's head.

Byrnes' arms were crushed as he dived under the moving truck seeking to snatch away his son.

Physicians at Sunnyside Hospital said Mrs. Byrnes and son were "in fine condition."

Film Stars to Face Dies Probe in March

By GEORGE ROTHWELL BROWN

(Special to the Boston Evening American)

WASHINGTON, Feb. 28—Hollywood witnesses, to tell the Dies committee what they know about Communist penetration in the film colony, will begin their parade to Washington beginning about the middle of March.

Meanwhile Rep. John J. Dempsey, New Mexico Democrat, and member of the committee, will leave in a few days for California and other border states to conduct a one-man subcommittee investigation of certain Communist and Nazi activities in Mexico.

WILL GO TO COAST

The committee also voted in executive session today to conduct its investigation into Nazi and Communist activities on the West Coast, including those of the motion picture industry, at public hearings to begin as soon as possible.

After two days of secret meetings which at times were stormy, the committee agreed upon an elaborate program of investigation which, if carried out as outlined, will probably continue until late in the summer, and which, after adjournment of Congress, will take the committee in a body to the West coast.

Chairman Dies and his associates are now engaged in canvassing a field of eligibles from which to select a new committee counsel to replace Rhea Whitley, who served in that capacity until recently when he resigned.

TO WIDEN PROBE

The committee realizes that the proposed investigation of alleged Communist organization and activity in the Hollywood film industry will be stubbornly resisted and that the committee will encounter a highly specialized publicity and legal setup. For this reason it is looking for the best attorney that can be employed within the apropriation of $75,000 recently granted by the House.

At an executive session the committee, meeting in full for the first time since its continuation was authorized, defeated a number of proposals offered by Rep. Jerry Voorhis of California, and suported by Rep. Joseph E. Casey of Massachusetts, which were designed to restruct the public scope of the committee.

The committee also voted to start public hearings as soon as possible on alleged Communist activities in consumers organizations, and to bring before the committee officers of certain groups involved in these activities.

Boy Safe After Battle in Boat

Safe after a three-hour battle in rough seas, off Houghs Neck, William Scanlon, 17-year-old shell fisherman, owed his life to the ingenious work of firemen today.

Advised by an unidentified caller that young Scanlon was in trouble in a rowboat about a mile from shore during a blinding snowstorm, District Chief Peter J. Creedon ordered out a truck which carried a powerful searchlight.

Scanlon, guided by the beam, struggled at the oars until he reached it and safety. The youth lives in Rock Island rd., Houghs Neck.

Chamber Fights 'Excessive' Claims

The Boston Chamber of Commerce today sought legislation which would strengthen the authority of the city auditor in refusing payment on claims he may regard as "excessive."

Fred A. Dakin, chairman of the Chamber's committee on municipal finance, said the city charter empowers the auditor to disallow "fraudulent and unlawful" claims, but that no mention is made of "excessive" claims.

$60,000 Fire Loss In Salem Block

SALEM, Feb. 28—Fire swept the three-story Peabody building and for several hours threatened the Town House sq. business section in the heart of the city today.

At the height of the blaze, Fireman Robert Griffin suffered cuts about his eyes by flying debris. He was treated at the scene and returned to help battle the blaze.

Loss was estimated at $60,000.

A general alarm was sounded when the flames were driven by a stiff northeast wind toward many historic buildings.

Department stores, offices of lawyers and real estate men and the rooms of the Salem Commercial School were ruined.

During the fire the roof of the building collapsed, sending showers of sparks into the air. Fire officials said falling snow helped prevent the blaze from spreading.

Charles W. Phelan, owner of radio station WESX, and Albert Belknap, an announcer, braved the fire and remained in their broadcasting studio housed in a wing of the burning structure.

The fire occurred 35 years to the day after a destructive blaze which wiped out a building at the same location in Town House sq.

'Model Hubby' Tells Of Marital Woes

He never touched a drop of liquor in his life and he never rolled dice or bet on the horses.

In fact, he was a model husband, according to his own estimation, while his wife considered him "just a meal ticket," and after their baby came she was "disgusted" with marital life.

This was the explanation of George W. Sands, Newton monument salesman, of his marital troubles with his wife, Gertrude, as he continued to battle her suit for separation today in Middlesex Probate Court.

Previously, Sands had been denied a divorce in the same court.

Questioned as to whether he still wants to "make a go" of it he replied, "No."

FOR HER CONVENIENCE

He declared he had moved from Fairview ave. to Partridge st. in Newton so she could be near friends. He said he moved from Partridge st. to Cambridge so she'd be near a carline, after she began to make frequent visits to Boston.

Under cross-examination, he said he had visited the home of a Florence Jacobson in Partridge st., and had taken trips to New Hampshire with her and her relatives.

He described himself as "not much of an arguing man" and said that he was "easy going" with his wife. Once, he said, when a neighbor spoke of how good he was to her, she replied by hitting him with a book.

His brother, C. Radford Sands, testified that on the day the couple separated he was called by phone and reached the house to find both husband and wife in tears, and she said she wanted to leave. He said he drove her to the home of a Mrs. Walker.

HOLLYWOOD, Feb. 28 (AP)—Hollywood's newest newlyweds, Herbert Marshall and Lee Russell, were due home today.

A few hours after their marriage last night in Las Vegas, Nev., the screen couple boarded a train, cancelling plans for a visit at Boulder Dam.

Friends for three years, Marshall, 49, and Miss Russell, 29, were wed by Judge Roger Foley after a motor trip in the company of Rod La Rocque and his wife, Vilma Banky, silent screen stars.

Miss Russell, model and bit actress, gave her full name as Elizabeth Roberta Brandt. She is the former wife of Eddy Brandt, who in 1938 sued Marshall for $250,000, charging alienation of affections. Brandt later said the suit had been settled out of court for $10,000 a claim Marshall denied.

The actor was divorced Feb. 7 by Edna Best, British actress, who a few minutes later wed Nat Wolf, film agent.

Hundreds Flee Calif. Flood

SAN FRANCISCO, Feb. 28 (AP)—Vast sections of northern and central California lay under deep flood waters today and hundreds were homeless in the wake of a three-day rainstorm which the weather bureau said would continue another 36 hours.

Swollen rivers poured over thousand of acres of rich farm lands and backed into city areas, slides blocked major rail and highway arteries, and high winds whipped heavy seas against shore lines.

National Guardsmen were ordered by Gov. Culbert L. Olson yesterday to help evacuate 70 families from homes in Yolo County, where the Sacramento river was over its banks.

Face Hearing On Flag 'Snub'

Parents of a family divided on the question of saluting the American flag today were under instructions to appear before Saugus school authorities March 11 to explain the unusual case.

Wanda Green, 14, and Geneva, 11, have steadfastly refused to salute the flag with their classmates, school officials said.

But their brothers, Hollis, 13, and Beecher, Jr., go through the regular patriotic procedure with fellow students.

The sisters, like other Saugus pupils who have refused in the past to salute the flag, are members of Jehovah's Witnesses, a religious sect which forbids pledging of allegiance to the flag, officials said.

Hamilton Hails Victories in Ohio

(By the Associated Press)

Two Republican congressional victories in Ohio were hailed by Republican Chairman John Hamilton today as pointing toward a Democratic defeat in the November election.

"The Republicans take first blood of 1940," Hamilton said through national headquarters in Washington. "This confirms the trend we have contended has been running since 1938."

J. Harry McGregor, Republican, won by nearly 5000 votes the seat of the late William A. Ashbrook, Democrat, in the 17th Ohio district. McGregor's opponent was the late representative's nephew, Byron B Ashbrook.

The other victory marked no increase in Republican congressional seats, for Mrs. Chester C. Bolton of Cleveland was elected to the place held by her late husband. She defeated Anthony A. Fleger, Democrat, by more than 16,000.

The third term question continued to dominate political developments in Democratic ranks.

Frank McHale, campaign manager for Paul V. McNutt, said last night at Indianapolis that McNutt's friends were working with President Roosevelt's supporters in filing delegate slates for the national convention.

He said that Roosevelt and McNutt backers had joined forces in New Hampshire, Wisconsin, Oregon and Nebraska and a similar tie-up would be effected in Florida.

"If President Roosevelt isn't a candidate, you can rest assured that Paul McNutt will be," McHale said.

The President, meanwhile, parried with a smile a third term question aboard the cruiser Tuscaloosa at the Panama Canal.

Supporters of Vice President Garner filed petitions last night indicating they would have candidates in seven congressional districts in New York City for delegates and alternates to the Democratic convention.

Textile Help Back 3d Term

An estimated 40,000 textile workers of Massachusetts today were behind a third term boom for President Roosevelt.

Joseph Salerno, state director of the Textile Workers of America (CIO), said 25 field representatives from New Bedford, Maynard, Fall River, Worcester, Springfield, Salem, Boston and other cities had "unanimously" adopted a proposal urging the President to run again.

Meanwhile, at Holyoke, Western Massachusetts members of the Democratic state committee voted approval of a slate of delegates pledged to support James A. Farley for President at the national convention.

In Boston, Superior Court Judge John J. Burns, named on the Farley-for-President-at-large slate, said he found himself unable to serve because of legal business which is associated with the federal government, thus making him subject to the Hatch law.

Dewey in N. H. Primary Race

The opportunity comes in the candidacy of J. Howard Gile, former Nashua police commissioner, for an assignment as a delegate-at-large to the G. O. P. national convention pledged to the New York district attorney. But several factors have combined to strip Gile's candidacy of potential political significance, chief among them a section-wide determination of Republican leaders in New England to send unpledged delegations to the convention from the six states.

Vandenberg, Dewey Battle in Nebraska

LINCOLN, Neb., Feb. 28 (INS)—A test of strength between Sen. Arthur H. Vandenberg of Michigan and Thomas E. Dewey of New York as potential Republican presidential timber was assured today for Nebraska's preferential primary April 9.

A petition placing Vandenberg's name on the ballot was filed late yesterday, bearing 700 signatures. Earlier [illegible]tion was filed for Dewey with 240 names.

petition placing Vandenberg's name on the ballot was filed late yesterday, bearing 700 signatures. Earlier a petition was filed for Dewey with 2400 names.

Garner's Name Filed In N. Y. Primaries

His supporters filed by the last midnight deadline slates of Garner delegates and alternates in eight congressional districts in the city and in unspecified districts upstate.

NEW SNOW PERIL TO TRAFFIC

Driven by a northeast wind, snow glazed highways, caused cancelation of passenger airplane flights and delayed traffic and shipping today.

Government forecasters said the snowfall would be light, probably not over an inch in Greater Boston.

The storm will end before nightfall and will be followed by partly cloudy and colder weather, according to today's predictions.

Joseph Eagle, 37, of Wetherby rd., Waltham, was critically injured today when a truck which he was operating skidded in Main st., Waltham, and rammed a snow pile. Eagle was hurled through the windshield and received a brain concussion and severe head lacerations. He is at Waltham Hospital.

Charles J. Buckley, 16, of Lake st., Brighton, and Stanley Simpson, 12, Marshal st., Brookline, were among several children to receive cut and broken bones in Greater Boston sled accidents.

The storm followed a period of intense cold, which produced record low temperatures in New England for the winter. The most frigid town in Massachusetts was Tully, with a reading of 30 degrees below zero.

Some other cold spots: Keene N. H., 19 below; Northfield, Vt., 27 below, the coldest in New England this winter with exception of Mount Washington, which strangely, yesterday had a minimum of 4 below; Concord, Mass., 8 below; Houlton, Me., 10 below; Boston, 10 above. A reading of 23 below at Athol broke the record for the winter there.

Winthrop Buses Election Issue

Winthrop's transportation problem loomed today as a town election issue, with William P. Coughlin, retired steamship captain and candidate for the board of selectmen, sharply criticizing the present bus line set-up.

Coughlin charged that the bus operating franchise was given to the highest bidder in defiance of the wishes of a majority of Winthrop citizens.

Coughlin also rapped the General Republican Council of Winthrop for "backsliding" on their original endorsement of one Democrat as well as two Republicans for the board of selectmen. Dropping of the Democrat from the endorsed list is unfair to a strong minority group of the town's citizens, according to Coughlin.

Silent on Dean Successor

While State House circles buzzed with speculation, Governor Saltonstall today maintained tight-lipped silence as to identity of the man he will name to replace the resigned Ernest J. Dean as commissioner of conservation.

There were reports the Governor would appoint Raymond J. Kenney to the post. Kenney has been in the department several years.

Likewise, rumor had it that Eugene C. Hultman, head of the Metropolitan District Commission, may be transferred to the post. But to all these reports, the Governor remained non-committal.

QUINN MAY HEAD LEGION

Unconfirmed reports today had it that Thomas A. Quinn of Cambridge would became the new state commander of the American Legion. He is one of five state vice-commanders most prominently mentioned to succeed Ralph H Lavers.

LOCK UP TWO BOY KILLERS FOR LIFE

The youngest "lifers" in Massachusetts' penal history meditated their crimes in solitary confinement at State Prison today—robbery and murder which netted them but 45 cents and earned them life imprisonment.

The boy killers are Arthur S. Cray, Jr., of Morgan rd., and Irwin R. Nelson, Jr., of Granite st., both of Quincy.

Nelson will be 17 next month and Cray will not be 17 until May, making them both younger than Jesse Pomeroy, famous Bay State prisoner, who had passed his 17th birthday when he started his life term in Charlestown.

The crime for which the pair will spend the rest of their days in prison was the murder of Carl E. Carlson, 45, night watchman at Quincy City Hospital, who was shot to death while resisting a holdup in a lonely spot not far from where he worked.

NINE CRIMES

In eight holdups which, the youths confessed, preceded the slaying of Carlson, they obtained only a total of 45 cents in exchange for a lifetime behind prison bars.

The youths were snatched from the shadow of the electric chair when Dist. Atty. Edmund C. Dewing, of Norfolk County, recommended they be allowed to plead guilty to second-degree murder rather than stand trial on a first-degree indictment.

The boy killers heard their doom pronounced by Judge Thomas F. Dowd as their grief-stricken parents huddled in a corridor outside the courtroom, unable to bear the ordeal of hearing them sentenced.

In recommending acceptance of a second-degree guilty plea, Dist. Atty. Dewing told the court the boys were modern problem youths who "should never again be allowed to mingle with society."

"One of these boys started as a mere youth causing trouble to his parents. His cruelty to animals on various occasions and his being accused in complaints where young girls were involved showed he was uncontrollable.

"DUTY MANDATORY"

"The other boy had been involved in a breaking and entering case and also at some time prior had brandished a revolver, scaring another youth.

"I believe these young men should never again be allowed to mingle with society," the prosecutor continued. "My reason for asking you to accept the second-degree plea is because of their extreme youth.

"I believe this is the only case in this State where two such youthful defendants have been charged with murder. I realize that if we had proceeded to trial and had obtained a first-degree conviction, we still would have had a problem on our hands because of their age."

Squalus Survivors May Rejoin Sub

HARTFORD, Ct., Feb. 28 (AP)—Several survivors of the Squalus disaster may rejoin the submarine when she returns to service next summer following salvage and repair operations.

Lieut. George A. Sharp, commander of the rescue ship Falcon, told the Hartford Engineers' Club last night that among volunteers for the Squalus' new crew were a number of the 33 men who were rescued after she sank off Portsmouth, N. H., last May.

Ship Drops Propellor in Hub Harbor

Buffeted for 14 days by storms, the big Italian freighter Belvidere was towed to Army Base pier today, after dropping her propeller off the Boston harbor quarantine station.

The propeller did not drop to the harbor bottom but caught in the rudder housing, Capt. Romano Tomicich reported.

Fred Wallace, Somerville, diver, was engaged to inspect the propeller and attach a cable so that it might be recovered.

Capt. Romano expected he would have to put out his vessel in drydock for the job of re-attaching the propellor to the shaft.

He said he might have lost his ship had the propellor broke loose during the Belvidere's stormy two-weeks crossing from Mediterranean ports.

The freighter is to take aboard a cargo of birch lumber here, to be used for airplane propellors, Capt. Romano said.

Woman Revived From Coal Fumes

Found unconscious in the kitchen of her Chambers st., West End, home, Mrs. Israel Richmond, 55, was revived by police of the Joy st. station today when they responded to a citizen's alarm rung by her 16-year-old son, Melvin.

'Pro' Models Quit Glamour Contest

Starting off as a "sham battle" in behalf of sweet Polish charity, the long drawn out fight between the debutante models and the professional models was the real thing today.

The dissension, fostered originally on sympathetic editors, grew by leaps and bounds until (illegible) morning, there appeared no way whatsoever of bringing the professional gals back into the fold for the big charity fashion show next month.

The "pros" are sick and tired of being "used" for publicity purposes and vexed most of all because they have not been provided with the same swank clothes which the debbies will model.

And who are the professionals blaming?

Mrs. William Brace Pratt, who thought up the whole thing, and who now feels it is too bad that the shops won't provide fetching creations for any but the pampered debs, but that there is nothing more she can do about it.

Mrs. Pratt, according to pretty Miss Ruth Allen, in charge of the professional group, gave them an ultimatum which expired last night, telling them what clothes would be required. The impossibility of obtaining these clothes, Miss Allen said, will bar her group from the contest.

"We were expected to wear the same type of clothes the debs were to wear," said Miss Allen. "But the shops wouldn't furnish these clothes. So what can we do?"

"We could get the type of clothes we consider suitable, but they were not acceptable to Mrs. Pratt."

CLASH ON ALL POINTS

There have been many other points of dissension since the debs accepted the professionals' challenge to hold the fashion show battle at Hotel Statler for the benefit of the Polish Relief Fund.

There was the "sarong-and-short" dispute, in which Mrs. Pratt informed the professionals she considered display of such costumes in poor taste and that they must wear costumes along the lines of those worn by debutantes.

It was Miss Allen who was unwittingly the cause of the sarong dispute. A picture of her in a sarong which she planned to wear in a fashion show was seen by mothers of two deb models and the mothers promptly threatened to withdraw their daughters from the contest.

Ask New Trial In Balm Suit

Mr. and Mrs. Abraham Schlinsky of Roxbury, against whom a Suffolk county jury returned a $1200 verdict yesterday in favor of their former son-in-law, Harold Aronson, will seek a new trial, according to their counsel, William Todd.

Aronson, who sought $50,000 damages, charged in his suit that his wealthy former parents-in-law deliberately broke up his marriage to their daughter, Frances. Schlinsky is a well-known Back Bay furrier.

The verdict was reached after Judge J. Arthur Baker refused to accept a jury disagreement, pointing out that the trial had been in session for five days at a cost of $400 a day.

$400,000 FOR SNOW SHOVELERS

Boston will dig deep into her municipal pocketbook tomorrow to pay for the St. Valentine's Day blizzard, with 13,800 snow shovelers calling for wages totaling more than $400,000.

Scores of clerks will be on hand at 15 city yards and other stations to pay off the army of shovelers.

At the same time it was announced that contractors and truckmen will be paid off in about three weeks. This bill is expected to exceed another $600,000.

Meanwhile, city officials denied reports of grafting among snow shovellers and contractors. It had been stated that many workers had put in for time on two different jobs.

Although officials said there was no truth to the graft report, the Boston Finance Commission announced it was checking on the system used by the city in the hire and payment of laborers as well as on the amount of work done by contractors and the methods used to hire trucks.

4 BRITISH TRAWLERS ATTACKED

LONDON, Feb. 28 (INS)—Attacks on four British trawlers by two German planes during yesterday's aerial activity over the North Sea were revealed authoritatively today.

The German aircraft bombed and machine-gunned the trawlers but failed to cause any casualties. One of the vessels, the Arora, replied with Lewis gun fire, driving off the attackers, one of which was last seen fleeing with smoke pouring from its tail and rapidly losing altitude.

Authorities said the trawlers attacked were the Arora, Bilsdean, Cragceoilleach and Strathrannoch.

The attacks occurred during aerial activity yesterday in which two German Heinkel bombers were shot down by British pursuit planes.

One of the Heinkels fell into the sea off the Firth of Forth. A British trawler rescued four members of its crew, one of whom was wounded and took them to a Scottish port.

The German airmen were so overjoyed that they repeatedly shook the hands of the trawlermen to express their thanks.

British Royal Air Force planes flew over Berlin last night for the second night in succession the air ministry announced today. A communique stated:

"Last night the Royal Air Force carried out extensive and successful reconnaissance flights over northern Germany, flying over Berlin, Hanover and the naval bases of Kiel and Cuxhaven."

The flights over Germany were the fifth reported in the past six days.

Bar Palestine Areas to Jews

LONDON, Feb. 28 (INS)—Jews will be barred as landowners in certain sections of Palestine, the British government announced today.

This policy was announced in the White Paper on Palestine issued in May, 1939, and now the government has decided to put it into effect.

"The government has been advised," said the announcement, "that the rights and position of the Arab population will be prejudiced unless land sales are prohibited in some areas and regulated in others."

Malcolm MacDonald, colonial secretary, announcing the regulations in the House of Commons, said the decision was effective as from May 18, 1939.

The ruling—which long has been protested by Jewish organizations immediately was attacked by Maj. Clement R. Attlee, opposition leader.

Nazis Repulse Infantry Drive

BERLIN, Feb. 28 (AP)—The German high command reported today a strong infantry assault supported by artillery was repulsed by German forces east of the Moselle river last night.

(French military advices reported artillery bombardment of German positions in the Blies valley, but did not mention troop attacks on German positions.)

The German communique said:

"A strong enemy infantry assault supported by artillery in the region of Perl, east of the Moselle, last night was successfully resisted.

"The German air force on the night of Feb. 26 to 27 undertook extensive flights over France in the course of which numerous machines for a considerable time hovered over Paris."

Hurled Into Drift From Auto Blast

HODGDON, Me., Feb. 28—An unexplained explosion in his automobile threw Sylvester Alward, about 48, into a snowdrift here and inflicted burns which sent him to a hospital.

After the explosion, which occurred as Alward was driving up a hill, the machine burst into flames and was destroyed.

Wins $17,000 for Elevator Injuries

A verdict of $17,000 for injuries received in a Washington st. office building elevator was handed down in favor of Benjamin Byer of Wildwood st., Dorchester, by Judge Leary in superior court.

BAN RED WAR, PLEA OF LLOYD GEORGE

LONDON, Feb. 28 (AP)—Germany has learned the lesson of the last war and kept her doors open to Russia, Italy and Rumania for supplies, David Lloyd George, World War prime minister, declared today, while "frankly in respect of food we are not so well off as we were last time for a long war."

Addressing the national defense and public interest committee he urged the government to "make it clear" that air attacks on civilians would bring retaliation.

"Don't run any more risks," he said in discussing the possibility of war with Russia.

"I would not allow any reckless or inconsiderate steering on icy roads to skid us into war with Russia. It is a big job we have undertaken. It will need all our strength to get through."

FIGHTS SHAM PEACE

Of peace, he said:

"When the peace comes it must no longer be a sham pact that will not stand the first shower that falls upon it.

"And certainly it must be a peace that will not be a betrayal of our principles, our pledges, our promises and our trust.

"There is one thing I want to say as an old war prime minister: Better a long war than a mean get-out."

PREPARE FOR LONG WAR

"If you want a short war you must be thoroughly prepared for a long one, and the enemy must know it—a long one on all fronts. My theme today is, that at least on one vital front, in my judgment, We are not fully prepared, and that is food supplies," he continued.

Europeans Protest Censorship Rules

By the Associated Press

European censorship is back-firing on itself.

Newspapers and the people in France and Britain complain of the lack of fully truthful news and now the censors' own governments criticize the blue-pencil men both for what is published and what is withheld.

The latest storm over censorship is in France, where Premier Edouard Daladier temporarily settled the argument by lifting home censorship on political discussions in French newspapers.

In Britain, there has been a series of public plaints which the government is trying to obviate by changing censors. Newspapers so far have failed to record improvement.

HOW CENSORS WORK

Foreign correspondents, especially those sending news to the United States, still suffer from delays, mistakes and arbitrary decisions of censors.

Here is what the various countries are doing to control news:

Germany—No censorship on established correspondents such as those of the Associated Press. Correspondents are responsible for the truth and impartiality of the news they send.

Britain and France—All news is censored whether sent by telephone, cable, wireless or mail.

Finland—Censorship is similar to that in Britain and France but more flexible in that censors work more closely with foreign newspapermen.

SOVIET LID ON TIGHT

U. S. S. R.—Soviet Russia abolished censorship May 4, 1939, but reimposed it more severely than ever, December 29, 1939.

Spain—Tight censorship on news sent abroad, but lighter one, something on the "honor" system, on Spanish papers.

Italy—No censorship on the telephone, which foreign correspondents generally use, but correspondents are responsible for the news they send, as in Germany.

Holland and Switzerland—Censorship on important military and "alarmist" news, particularly anything that might reflect on their neutrality.

Dutch Open Fire On 10 Planes

part in massed German flights over France during the past 48 hours was announced today by the French high command.

These were in addition to two other German planes—Heinkel bombers—which the British announced yesterday they had shot down on their eastern coasts after the German fliers had crossed France and the English Channel.

The French did not reveal whether their pursuit planes or anti-aircraft batteries were responsible for the two enemy craft destroyed over France.

The high command's announcement said:

'In the course of particularly lively aerial operations in the last 48 hours, two German planes were downed in France."

Considerable firing by French anti-aircraft batteries was directed at massed German squadrons which flew over Paris area Monday night. Six Parisians were wounded by one anti-aircraft shell.

FINNS STAVE OFF RED DRIVE

tivity in the war zone was concentrated on the Karelian isthmus and the area northeast of Lake Ladoga.

The Finns said they repulsed Russian attempts to advance northeast of Lake Ladoga and that "operations against surrounded enemy positions continued" at Kuhmo, further north.

FINN AIRFORCE ACTIVE

The Finns said their own air force "bombed enemy troop columns, munitions dumps, communications and certain military objectives on the Gulf of Finland and its coasts."

Of the Arctic front, where the Finns yesterday disclosed a withdrawal southward to Nautsi, on the Norwegian border about 75 miles below the coast, today's communique said only that "a few enemy aircraft were observed," and "bombs dropped by the enemy caused no appreciable damage."

Finnish sources announced today 521 Russian planes have been shot down since the start of the war.

These sources estimated the total value of these planes at 2,500,000,000 Finnish markka ($42,500,000), or five times the Finnish financial losses due to bombings.

The Finns reported 1310 Russian tanks have been destroyed or captured. Many were said to have been repaired and used by the Finns.

Citizens who contribute jewelry to national air defense funds will be given iron rings in exchange, the Finns announced. The rings will carry the image of a fighting plane.

Moscow Says Finn Defense Crumbling

MOSCOW, Feb. 28 (INS)—Finland's Mannerheim line defenses on the Karelian isthmus are crumbling before the Red army onslaught, the Soviet war communique indicated today.

"In the fighting on the Karelian isthmus," said the announcement, "Soviet troops broke through the enemy fortified zone and captured 17 different fortifications, including nine iron and concrete artillery forts.

"In other sectors there was nothing of importance.

"In a number of areas, Soviet aviation successfully bombed enemy troops and military objectives. Six enemy planes were brought down in aerial combats."

Nazis Spike Peace Offering by Welles

BERLIN, Feb. 28 (INS)—Chancellor Hitler will advance no peace plans or mediation hints when he confers with American Under Secretary of State Sumner Welles and the Reich does not expect Welles to advance any such plans or hints.

That was the "final verdict" laid down by authoritative German quarters today as Berlin prepared to receive the traveling American diplomat due here Friday.

Meanwhile, it was revealed that the plans for Welles' visit are still in a tentative state as the result of his stop-off of one day in Switzerland.

Germany's attitude was made clear as a result of outside allegations circulated recently, some of which even asserted that Hitler would present a peace program to Welles.

DISTRUST FOR AMERICA

The German government officially branded such allegations an attempt to sabotage the whole purpose of Welles' mission and to "becloud it with multiple motives."

The German press blast against the London Daily Telegraph for claiming that Germany would present a peace plan to Welles has not yet affected the official welcome to be accorded Welles, according to authentic indications, but it can be assumed the rumors might easily cause further souring of the German attitude and increasing difficulties for Welles.

Among existing handicaps that he faces is the general German mistrust of United States diplomacy in view of the anti-Nazi "campaigning" in America during the past six years.

HAVE NO PEACE PLAN

One qualified source explained:

"The British radio, in addition to reporting a Hitler peace plan, last night again claimed that Hitler delegated Premier Mussolini to tell Welles that Germany is ready to seek peace.

"This is deliberate British interference and an attempt to deceive the British public into the illusion that the Reich is weakening and eager to halt the war."

This source added:

"From our point of view, Welles' mission remains what President Roosevelt proclaimed it to be—namely, that Welles is coming here to seek information.

"The question of giving and receiving peace plans does not enter the case."

GET RUSSIAN OIL

Welles will be greeted Friday by Alexander Kirk, American charge d'affaires, and a German foreign office representative. But his reception will hardly be equal to that which would be accorded to Soviet Premier-Foreign Commissar V. M. Molotov, whose projected visit to Berlin has been postponed repeatedly.

These postponements apparently are the result of a mutual decision that such a visit by Molotov would be difficult to arrange in war time.

Nevertheless, Russo-German developments, especially in the economic field, are considered far more important in Berlin than Welles' mission.

Informed quarters indicated that German officials undoubtedly will impress that fact upon Welles and inform him, for example, that a million tons of Russian oil already have reached the Reich and that the "inexhaustible raw material supply of Russia is giving the Reich sufficient reason to snap its fingers at the Versailles complex of the western powers."

Turkey Keeps Ships at Home

ISTANBUL, Feb. 28 (AP)—The government today forbade Turkish merchant ships to engage in tramp traffic, directing that every vessel must touch at a Turkish port on each voyage.

The order was described as required by Turkey's need to carry more of her heavy import and export traffic in her own ships.

LONDON, Feb. 28 (INS)—Authorities here discounted rumors that the Anglo-French Allies have requested Turkey's permission to send British or French warships through the Dardanelles.

Roosevelt Is Headed For Home

ABOARD U. S. S. LANG AT SEA, Feb. 28 (AP via wireless)—President Roosevelt headed for home today aboard the cruiser Tuscaloosa after telling newsmen the Panama Canal defense must be doubled.

He said that doubling the present number of planes and guns defending the canal is necessary for long-range defense of the vital link between the Atlantic and Pacific.

The President's press conference aboard the cruiser followed his thorough inspection of canal defenses. He said such a long-range program contemplates defense operations extending, if necessary, throughout Central America and as far south as Ecuador, Colombia and Venezuela.

BERMUDA ONIONS

Dear Sir: I'm frothing at the mouth over the way our State Department is taking it, and liking it, from Great Britain. Our protests over the contraband control have been futile. Now they're ransacking our transatlantic mails at Bermuda and all we can say is pretty-please. The action, yes—give us the real action when you know what it is but the propaganda speeches and the propaganda reports in a few paragraphs. I'll say one thing, though, the propaganda via radio is twice as bad.

AN EYE FOR A LIFE

Dear Sir: As the mother of two small girls I'm intensely interested in the story of another mother willing to take a 1-1000 chance that her baby will recover from glioma without the removal of the infected eye. I think a decision of that kind must be the hardest to make and I have no idea what my own would be in similar circumstances—whether to take the long chance with my little girl's life or doom her to go through life with only one eye, perhaps finally with none. I don't know what I'd do but I'm saying a prayer every day that this woman has done right.

MOTHER OF TWO.

SIGNS 100 IN DRIVE ON WAR

In an outstanding contribution of effort and loyalty to the National Legion of Mothers of America, Mrs. Cora Fornier of 165 Fairmount st., Fitchburg, yesterday submitted a list of 100 signatures of Fitchburg Gold Star Mothers and relatives promising to do their share in keeping American youth from the war on foreign soil.

Mrs. Fornier's roster was so thorough that she had the signature of each new member on a scroll and had it forwarded to Legion headquarters through her district leader, Mrs. Anna Little of 41 Madison st., Fitchburg.

Commending Mrs. Fornier for her splendid work, Mrs. Little writes:

"Mrs. Fornier showed what a splendid American mother she is by securing these names for me. Her husband saw service in France for 18 months and she dreads the thought of her sons being among those who would have to go to war if this country was dragged into that terrible conflict over there.

"She obtained the signatures of 100 mothers, sisters, wives and daughters, who are all determined not to send their men again on foreign soil to fight., so dictators can rule and bring about nothing but herror.

"Every name here is a Gold Star mother or a relative of one who had a veteran in the last war and we have not forgotten though it's over 20 years ago. We must only protect our own land and shores and strive for everlasting peace and goodwill. This is certainly a proud honor for Mrs. Fornier."

Must File Notices On Mattress Voters

Under a new law passed by the last Legislature to curb "mattress voting," lodging houses and hotels have until Friday to file with the election boards notices of residence if votes are to be cast from those addresses in the coming election.

The law, which will affect about 30,000 persons in Boston and 100,000 throughout the State, provides that a person must state where he or she resided on Jan. 1 and the period of stay in that particular community.

AUDITION TEST FOR 25 GIRLS

Approximately 25 talented young women will compete in the finals of the Phil Spitalny-Boston American talent auditions on the stage of the RKO Boston Theater tonight at 9 o'clock. Cash prizes, with a first prize of $50, are the incentives.

For the past three mornings, Spitalny, famous musical director of the Hour of Charm All-Girl Orchestra, has personally listened to contestants. Almost 300 have been auditioned, some journeying from other states in New England in order to be heard by Spitalny.

Soloists and instrumentalists vied with one another for the right to appear on the stage of the Boston Theater and compete for the prizes plus the opportunity to appear at the last show of the famous Hour of Charm. While the finalists were chosen personally by Spitalny, the winners will be judged by the audience present tonight. Volume of applaud will be the deciding factor.

HIRE JAP LAWYER TO AID YOUNG

TOKYO, Feb. 28 (INS)—Two influential groups of Japanese business and professional men met today to consider possible action in behalf of James R. Young, Far Eastern manager of International News Service, who is facing trial for alleged violation of the Japanese military code in connection with a series of news dispatches sent after a long tour of China.

Young's many friends and wide circle of acquaintances were keenly disappointed when an indictment was handed down at the time of his release appeared imminent.

The services of a noted Japanese lawyer were obtained to defend Young when the case comes to trial United States Ambassador Joseph C. Grew, the Consul-General's office, and Russell Durgin, secretary of the Tokyo Y. M. C. A., are doing everything in their power to expedite the proceedings.

In announcing the indictment against Young, the Japanese foreign office took the unusual course of publicizing it through the official Japanese News Agency Domei without first notifying the United States Embassy.

Officials of the Sugamo prison, where Young is held, permitted his wife to visit him yesterday for the second time since his incarceration more than a month ago.

Plan Appeal In Illegal Surgery Case

Attorneys for two Arlington doctors today prepared to carry to the Supreme Judicial Court appeals of their clients to five-year sentences imposed by Judge Frederick W. Fosdick in Middlesex Superior Court on charges of illegal surgery.

The two physicians, Dr. Daniel E. Nyman and Dr. John A. Carter, accepted sentences without show of emotion.

Immediately, Attys. Robert T. Bushnell and Harry Reinherz asked stay of sentence on appeals to be filed on writs of error. The two doctors were released in bail of $2500e ach.

The two were charged with illegal surgery allegedly performed on Evelyn Alice Spencer, pretty 21-year-old South Boston girl, who died last June as a result of an operation.

Anthony Colameca of Arlington, charged with being an accessory before the fact to illegal surgery, was found not guilty by Judge Fosdick after his counsel had argued there was no evidence to support the charge.

Bernice Purcell, chum of the dead girl, was principal witness at the trial. She told of events leading up to the death.

DR. GEORGE K. DAZEY AND LATE WIFE

Doctor Dazey Vows He Loved Slain Wife

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 28 (AP)—Dr. George K. Dazey loved his wife, did not kill her and believes the son born to her a few months before she was found dead is his.

That was the substance of his testimony, delivered in a strained voice in the courtroom here where he is fighting a murder charge.

Occasionally he broke into tears, at other times his face flushed as he answered questions regarding his married life and the death of his wife, Doris, Oct. 3, 1935.

"Did you murder your wife?" asked his attorney, Jerry Giesler.

"Did you carry her body from the house to the garage?"

"I did not."

"Did you place her head under the exhaust of a running automobile?"

"No, sir."

"Who is the father of Walter Kendall Dazey?"

"I am."

"Have you any suspicions against anyone else?"

"No sir," his face flushing.

"If the child was not yours, would you want it now?"

"No."

eGislers question and the physicians answer were apparent references to a court contest over custody of the boy, instituted by Dr. and Mrs. Walter E. Schwuchow, parents of Mrs. Dazey.

Dr. Dazey declared he does "not believe the testimony that my wife associated with her former husband just prior to her marriage late in 1934."

FARMERS CASH IN

SACRAMENTO, Cal. (AP)—California's truck, field, fruit and nut crops in 1939 showed a 12 per cent increase in value over 1938. The State Department of Agriculture estimated they were worth $383,045,000.

FHA Homes Here To Start in April

The new $2500 Federal Housing Administration homes to be built in Greater Boston will be attractive Cape Cod cottage style and will first appear early in the spring, it was declared by Frederick Babcock, assistant national administrator of the FHA, in an address at M. I. T.

The FHA official stated that similar homes already had been built in Minnesota and Michigan, where climates are comparable to Boston, and that they had withstood the rigors of winter well.

He added that 50 builders throughout Metropolitan Boston are waiting and anxious to begin work on this type of home as soon as FHA completes final arrangements.

F. M. Babcock

Babcock's Tech address followed a three-hour conference with John F. Malley, state director of the FHA, and Joseph M. Stokes, chief FHA underwriter in Massachusetts

BUILDERS READY

In an interview prior to his address Babcock said the first homes will be built here "probably in April."

"The new $2500 house marks a great achievement for the building trades," he declared. "Technological problems of building have been solved with such success that the same amount of money which would formerly buy only a shack will now buy a livable home."

FOUR-ROOM BUILDINGS

The FHA-sponsored house will be a four-room dwelling, comprising two bed rooms, a living-dining room, kitchen, utility room and oil furnace.

Most of the new dwellings, it is expected, will be built in colonies, near Boston. One plan already submitted to the FHA authorities in Boston calls for a colony of 80 such houses within 12 miles of Boston.

Down payment on such houses, according to a new FHA mortgage plan, will be only five per cent, or $125. Land is not included. The houses will be built and sold by private contractors, the government aiding only in guaranteeing mortgages.

Fall River Council Studies Budget

FALL RIVER, Feb. 28—The city council today studied the 1940 budget of Mayor Murray, totalling $6,285,179 and $472,356 more than that of last year.

The increase would return a 10 per cent wage cut to all city employes and also build a $375,000 addition to a junior high school.

'NORTHWEST PASSAGE' HELD OVER ON LOEW'S SCREENS

Called 'Finest Adventure Film'

"Northwest Passage," one of the finest adventure dramas ever filmed, is being held over a second week at Loew's State and Orpheum Theaters.

Spencer Tracy, star of Metro's Technicolor production of Kenneth Roberts' splendid historical novel, has never given a finer performance than as the gallant, driving Major Rogers who organized the band of American settlers against the marauding Abenaki Indians in 1756.

Walter Young, in his most two-fisted role, and Walter Brennan, as his friend, turn in excellent performances.

The competent supporting cast includes Ruth Hussey, Isabel Jewell, Nat Pendleton, Regis Toomey, Donald McBride, Truman Bradley, Lumsden Hare, Montagu Love, Helen MacKellar and Addison Richards.

SPENCER TRACY as the gallant leader of Rogers' Rangers, and Ruth Hussey, the girl he loves, in "Northwest Passage" held over second week at Loew's State and Orpheum.

'Swanee River' Heads Program at Uptown

"Swanee River," the film based on the life of America's favorite troubadour, Stephen Foster, and co-starring Don Ameche and Andrea Leeds, will be the feature film on Uptown screen, starting Friday.

On the same bill will be "A Child Is Born," with Geraldine Fitzgerald, Jeffrey Lynn and Gale Page.

Paul Bregor Plays In Pro Arte Concert

Paul Bregor, well known Boston pianist, is the volunteer soloist with the Pro Arte Symphony at their first concert at Jordan Hall on Friday evening at 8.15 o'clock.

He will play the Tschaikowsky pianoforte concerto in B flat minor in the absence of the originally scheduled artist.

Parisian Burlesque Star Heads New Show at the Globe

Joan Collette Dance Sensation

Joan Collette, toast of Parisian burlesque houses and Rio De Janeiro night-spots, is to be the special attraction at the Globe Theater, starting Friday.

As the head of the incoming new traveling burlesque show, she is prepared to surprise Hub burlesque fans with a new dance creation that had even blase Parisian night-lifers stopped.

Another eye-taking beauty in the show will be Scarlett Kelly, auburn-haired siren who has a repertoire of fascinating Oriental dances. Then, there will be Jeannine, Patricia Perry and Virginia Dawn, a trio of dancing lovelies. And of course, the Globe's attention-getting chorus of 30 Bernardettes.

Lee Marmer, personable songstress, is remaining a second week by popular demand. An added attraction will be the well-known Six Song Stars with Sylvia Stone, Vic Plant, the comic Three Ryans, George Corwin, Arthur Ryan and Irving Benson. Vaudeville headliners Dot Dearing and Don and Duval are also to be featured on the new bill starting Friday.

Feature films, comedy shorts and newsreels dovetail the three burlesque shows daily, the former starting at 9 a. m.

Tonight will offer the final opportunity to see Marian Miller, star of the current show. A feature of tonight's show will be the regular Thursday night amateur radio audition with the audience sitting in as judges.

Hollywood Notes

HOLLYWOOD NOTES—Bob Howard, Andrea Leeds' wealthy socialite bridegroom, isn't making any secret of his movie ambitions.

Young Howard, whose interests have never been as closely associated with horse racing as his father's (Seabiscuit Howard) or his brother's (Ligaroti Howard) has quite a bit of spare time on his hands. When he first married Andrea there was talk that he would ask her to give up the movies—but evidently the bride has not only converted him to her career but he's actually interested in one of his own.

Not many people know that Wes Ruggles was seriously considering young Howard for "Arizona"—but it was decided he should get some experience before the camera in a less costly production.

'The Invisible Man Returns' Held Over 2d Week

"The Invisible Man Returns," in the new trend of horror-plus-laughs entertainment, is doing healthy business at the Trans-Lux, where it is being held over a second week.

The customers who liked the original, "The Invisible Man," are twice as enthusiastic about its current sequel which presents Vincent Price in the role Claude Rains created. Once you get accustomed to seeing Price, carrying his handsome head under his arm, the fun begins.

Particularly praiseworthy is Director Joe May's novel use of lighting and trick photography to further the story's eerie quality.

Price, convicted of the murder of his brother, and sentenced to be hanged, is given a serum injection which makes him invisible. In this transparent state he succeeds in escaping prison and finds the actual murderer, Sir Cedric Hardwicke.

SUPPOSE you knew some one who wept copiously over the misfortunes of a neighbor assailed by bandits but who while in the very act of shedding tears or lending him money to help him out was slipping firearms to the bandits?

You would unhesitatingly call that hypocrisy—or worse—wouldn't you?

Well, that is just what our government is doing in regard to Finland.

While we talk about appropriating millions to help the brave little Baltic country and cable all kinds of sympathy for the jam she is in, we are SELLING MILLIONS OF DOLLARS' WORTH OF WAR MATERIALS TO THE COUNTRY BENT ON DESTOYING FINLAND—SOVIET RUSSIA.

"Strategic materials and machinery essential for war industries have composed almost 50 per cent of Soviet Russia's purchases in the United States since the war, the Commerce Department disclosed today.

"Nearly 98 per cent of the materials re-exported to Russia also were important to the Russian war machine.

"A statistical breakdown showed that out of $36,100,000 of exports to Russia in the five months ended Jan. 31, 1940, approximately $33,000,000 constituted war items.

"Virtually all of the $11,313,000 exports to Russia in JANUARY were copper and metal-working machinery."

If we lend beleaguered Finland $20,000,000 and then put war materials in the hands of Russia we are placing ourselves in the utterly ridiculous position of literally shooting away our own money.

Every dollar's worth of merchandise that goes to Russia is a weapon placed in the hands of our ONLY sworn and avowed enemy.

A PENSION FOR CUPID? The interesting question is suggested by the recent address at Harvard by Dr. Donald Macomber, who said:

"Parents should give financial assistance to young people to help them raise a family.

"The idea in America that young people when they marry should stand on their own two feet is wrong, because it precludes the opportunity to raise a family."

We were about to applaud Dr. Macomber when he volced this thought-provoking advice:

"If it's a choice between an automobile and a baby, have the baby."

Then we began to think. If a couple were so selfish that they considered a motor vehicle more desirable than a son or daughter, what good would a check from the folks back home do them?

They'd probably use it to buy a bigger, better and more expensive car.

TEN YEARS' SCHOOL for every child in America is the recommendation of a committee of teachers meeting in Washington under the auspices of the National Education Association and the American Association of School Administrators.

Apparently the teachers are not too familiar with the situation in Massachusetts.

Here, their minimum educational requirement has been in effect for years. We oblige all girls and boys between the ages of six and 16 to attend daily classes.

Actually, we go much further than the teachers' committee. We have NO LIMIT for free education.

Thanks to our democratic school laws, it is possible for a student to spend his entire life in our various high, trade and vocational schools and State colleges.

MIGHTIER THAN SWORD? The man who wrote "the pen is mightier than the sword" never met Gene Tunney. But, unless we miss our guess, he would have enjoyed making the former heavyweight champion's acquaintance.

GENE TUNNEY
"Kayoes" Professor

From Columbus, O., comes word that Tunney matched memories with learned Professor Jacob Taylor and emerged the victor in a Shakespeare quotation contest.

In fact, so victorious was the erstwhile King of the Ring that he won $5000 of the Professor's money, which he considerately refused to take.

Age and retirement will probably combine to end Tunney's physical prowess. But the knowledge he has wisely acquired will serve him to his last day.

Human Side of News -:- By EDWIN C. HILL

IT WAS ABOUT 30 years ago that the Marxian slogan, "Workers of the World, Unite" thundered in the Western logging camps, the hobo "jungles," the conventions of the hard-rock men, in the waterfront meetings of the salmon-fishermen, and around the camp fires of the seasonal and migratory laborers.

These sloganeers were the I. W. W.—the "wobblies," a grade A menace to conservative citizens several decades back, as they expounded and, incidentally sang, a highly picturesque derivative of George Sorel's European syndicalism.

"Workers of the world, unite; you have nothing to lose but your chains" was the complete line which steamed up the "blanket stiffs." They have passed. A few old-time wobblies sometimes gather in a sleazy hall and sing "Why the Hell Don't You Work?" or "Pie in the Sky," but that's about all.

AND IF the Bard of Avon were alive today, he would be writing "All the world's a squirrel-cage." Here's imperial Germany, the sworn blood-foe of Marxism, gone wobbly. "Workers of the world, unite!" bellows Robert Ley, head of the German Labor Front, in his appeal to proletarians of the Reich.

The ghost of Marx walks again in Germany!

Naziism started from away over to the left. The great industrialists bank-rolled it, with the idea that they could keep it like a parrot in a cage. They were wrong, and they're in the grave or the cage, now, or over the border if they were lucky.

GHOST OF MARX WALKS AGAIN IN GERMANY!
"'When Do We Eat?' Becomes a Mere After-Thought!"

The amazing agreement between Germany and Russia of last summer was a sledge-hammer jolt to the rest of the world. That, however, was vaguely understandable under the rules of power politics. Machiavelli could have made it all clear in a few cynical phrases.

But Germany's turn to Marxian doctrine, in the last few months, in which the people are belabored with hoary soapbox philosophy, goes far beyond the exigencies of power politics.

THE FILCHING of the Marxian dialectic and vocabulary by its sworn enemy is a beautiful illustration of how wrong the pig-headed, bewhiskered old Marx could be on occasion.

But of a lot of loose odds and ends—he was an untidy old man and the board of health would have taken him in if it weren't for his friend Engels—he patched up the "economic man."

He shot the works on "economic determinism," and the world has been busy ever since proving that the "economic man" is a myth.

A FEW demagogues had no trouble in making the German people clamor for bigger and heavier chains, rather than strike them off.

When you do something like that to people, you naturally have to make them like it, which possibly explains the leftward trend of Nazi ideology. "When do we eat?" becomes a mere afterthought, if you can get masses of people sufficiently aroused about something nobody understands.

The history books are bulging with records of men dying for some emotional foolishness, rather than for bread, or for a chance to work or the security of their homes.

Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt -:- -:- MY DAY

GOLDEN BEACH, Fla., Feb. 28—Monday was the most beautiful sunny and windless morning which we have had since arriving here. We all sat out on the beach and sunned ourselves, and even brought our one and only visitor out with us, rather than retire to the house even for a brief hour. Some of us had lunch under the cabana awning, but were finally driven in by one of those short showers which blow up so quickly in this part of the world.

Jimmy was off to see various friends for part of the afternoon and evening. The rest of us spent the afternoon reading, sleeping and doing the mail, which is still with us even on a holiday.

I THINK that Miss Thompson has about a quarter of the day free on a holiday. The rest of her time she spends in a little tiled logia which is bright with sun most of the time. This, perhaps, gives the illusion that she is working less than if she were in her Washington office, but I can't see that there is a tremendous amount of difference.

In the evening we went over to the Miami-Biltmore pools to see the Water Revue of 1940. It is a delightful show, featuring some wonderful diving by some of the most famous diving stars.

MISS THOMPSON
Works During Vacation

One of the most charming features is the swimming of Kay Mattero and Jerry Walsh, which is remarkably precise and graceful. The comedians, who intersperse the real diving feats, were better, I thought, than those at the Aquacade at the World's Fair.

One enjoys the whole show more here, because it is in a more intimate setting and makes one feel more a part of what is going on. The very high dive always takes my breath away.

B'NAI B'RITH had sent me a notice of the youth meetings which their organization sponsored in co-operation with 20 other youth-serving agencies, during the week of Washington's Birthday. They say that representatives of three million young people of all races, creeds and colors, held simultaneous youth and democracy rallies in more than three hundred communities, and that at these rallies the ten goodwill resolutions—which I printed recently in my column—were read aloud.

Young people are less prejudiced than older people, and it is well to confirm them in their leaning toward respect and understanding for other young people of different backgrounds and beliefs.

JED PROUTY CHANGES HIS MIND

By Leonard Lyons

NEW YORK Feb. 28 Jed Prouty portrays the role of "Pa" Jones in MGM's series called "The Jones Family." When his option came up for renewal recently, Prouty demanded an increase—because he felt that he had become an integral part of the series and couldn't be replaced . . The producers took him into a projection room and showed him an emergency scene—a hospital-shot, wherein a nurse emerges from a room, shakes her head sadly and sighs: "It looks awfully bad for Pa. He may not have long to live." . . . "Pa" Jones Prouty thereby was induced to forego his increase.

LAW: Elizabeth Hawes saw Justice Felix Frankfurter at his office, and asked him whether the law required that, before a man may be named to the Supreme Court bench, he must be an attorney . . . "I never thought of that," said Frankfurter . . He retired to the Law Library in the Courthouse and examined the law covering these facts. Then he returned and confessed: "Frankly, I don't know."

* * *

MISS BANKHEAD

ENTERPRISE: Herman Mankiewicz has recovered from his auto accident and now is writing the Orson Welles radio program . . . Mankiewicz admires Welles for having obtained a four-way movie contract—producer-director-writer-actor . . "How about you, Herman?" he was asked. "What about your movie career?" . . . "I've got a two-way contract at Republic Pictures," he informed. "Producer-janitor."

* * *

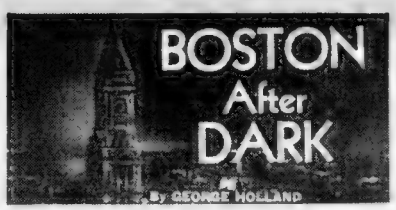
AMITY: Tallulah Bankhead returned to her hotel at dawn and asked the clerk: "Any messages for me?" . "No, Miss Bankhead," he assured her. "No messages . . . Oh, well — why should there be?" Tallulah shrugged. "I've been out with everybody I know."

* * *

CHANCE: At Norman Krasna's party, among the guests were David and Myron Selznick, who started a high-stake poker game. David Selznick kept raising until the pot was fabulous. When the show down came, he lost—holding only a pair of sevens . . . Myron said to David: "And you're the guy to whom we gave four million dollars to make 'Gone With the Wind.'"

* * *

DANCE: Moss Hart and Fred Astaire came East on the same train. Astaire had clips of all his dances in the movies. Hart asked to see them . . . "But the reels will take three hours to run," Astaire warned . . . "I'd love it," Hart sighed. "Imagine all your dances—without that same story."



ONCE OVER LIGHTLY: The prospect of a primary battle between former Governor James M Curley and Senator David I. Walsh is being entertained, and with considerable relish by political sidelinders who pre-view the ensuing six months as the hottest pre-election period in years and years . . . Mr. Curley is non-committal about his plans at this writing . . The column predicts that it will be "Curley for Senator" . . . In 1941, Boston College will play Clemson and Indiana, and possibly Fordham . . . Urged by a small and enthusiastic claque, Lita Gray Chaplin hung up a record for encore-taking at the Mayfair . . . The previous record was held by Sophie Tucker

CHATTER: District Attorney Thomas H. Moriarty, of the four western counties, will NOT be a candidate for attorney-general . . . That he will be a Federal judge is seen as a certainty . . Only a few of Tom's intimates are acquainted with the Washington "strength" the Springfield prosecutor is known to possess . . For a very important part of the Moriarty background has not been used as grist for the publicity mill in any of his political contests . . . But here is the story:

TWO YOUNG IRISH-AMERICANS were attached to the same overseas outfit in the World War . . . One was a lieutenant and the other a captain . . . Mustered out, both went to Michigan to become partners in a law firm . . . The lieutenant was Mr. Moriarty . . . His erstwhile commanding officer and later law partner's name was Murphy the Murphy who sits on the Supreme Court bench . . . Mel Massucco, the picture editor, is convalescing at Maplewood Hospital in Malden, and his return to action after a tussle with pneumonia will be observed by a welcoming dinner at the Brown Derby.

THE MAKINGS OF A GREAT brother-act, with the Big Time readily within reach, would be the Donahue freres, Walter and Joe, in this opinion . . . They learned the art of hoofing at the feet (literally) of their big brother, Joe, the lamented great eccentric dancer, humorist and comedian . . . But the boys are determined to go their separate ways . . . Walter has become a "standard act"—which means "well-paid and in-demand" . . . Joe begins a session at the Oasis Monday next . . . Perhaps they are right in failing to merge . . . But there hasn't been a toplight "brother act" in the ranks of the hoofers since Val and Ernie Stanton . . . Part of the appeal of Les Donahue Freres would be that they could not be mistaken for anything else but Donahues—of the same family of Donahues.

BEN (OL' MAESTRO) BERNIE AND GLEN GRAY and their respective orchestras will battle it out in sharps, chords and flats Thursday night at the Boston Garden, and the embattled Finns will thereby get their best Boston contribution to date, the indications are . . . "Miss Leap Year" will be chosen between sets

TWO-MINUTE STORY

JOHN BROWN, assistant in the country dispensary, was absent minded. He had finished reading an exciting detective story and now he was reviewing the plot. How clever and experienced the detective had been! How he had paid attention to some details which he, John Brown, would never have considered essential!

The door of the dispensary opened and an elderly woman, very poorly dressed, entered. She removed a prescription from her bag and passed it to John.

"It's for my son. He is seriously sick. Do hurry, please."

Brown took the prescription and read it. "Sit down for a few minutes. It will be ready soon," he said.

Then he weighed different ingredients, mixed and poured them into a bottle which he carefully labeled. The woman took the medicine, paid for it and hurried off.

THE THOUGHTS of John Brown turned back to the detective. What a marvellous fellow! How he had discovered the strong poison that killed so quickly, so surely. The poison! . . .

All of a sudden a dreadful thought struck John Brown. Had he not mixed the same poison with the medicine instead of one of the required ingredients? What had he done!

The poison in question was so strong that a very small quantity of it was sufficient to kill a man instantly. And he, lost in his thoughts while preparing the medicine, had used a relatively large quantity of it.

John Brown nearly fainted. Cold perspiration covered his body. What would the consequences of his carelessness be? He could easily imagine the result.

The doctor would come and find that the poisoned medicine had killed his patient. The police would be informed and he, John Brown, would be brought to trial. His life would be ruined.

A FEW HOURS later, the door of the dispensary opened. John Brown was terrified. He gasped in expectation of patrolmen.

Instead, it was the elderly woman. With tears in her eyes, she said:

"Sir, I was too late. I found my son already gone. I don't need this medicine any more. May I give it back to you?"

Can you write a short story? Send it to Two-Minute Story Editor, Boston Evening American, 5 Winthrop Square, Boston. Five dollars will be paid to the writer of the week's best story.

LISTEN, WORLD!

By Elsie Robinson

YOU DO what you want to do; you admit this gladly when you do a right or clever thing. But it is equally true when you do a wrong or stupid thing. If you make a mistake, you do it because you want to do it. Nothing is accidental—nothing is the result of chance. You willed it all. It is all your own choice

You don't believe that. "It isn't so," you cry. "I'm always doing things I don't mean to do—things that don't express the real me. I don't know why I do them. I get confused, or bewildered, and then it happens. But it doesn't happen because I want it to happen."

Yes, it does. Nothing can happen in your real life . . . your private, personal life . . . unless you want it to happen.

YOU DO what you want to do. But the WANTING and the DOING may be years apart. The desire and decision which caused you to do something at 20, or 50, may have started at five. Our acts are never instantaneous. There is no such thing as "a sudden impulse."

I know a woman whose every act is tainted with bitterness. She is handsome and brilliant. Charming, too, and quickly attracts. But she alienates as quickly as she attracts. There is a secret poison in everything she says or does which drives people from her.

She won't, of course, admit that this is her fault. "People are too thin-skinned," she cries. "Take offense too easily. I don't mean anything by those foolish things I say."

But she does mean something . . . something wretched and corrosive. She WANTS to hurt. She wants to hurt because once, long ago, she herself was hurt. She was a homely, clumsy, backward child shoved into the background by a brighter and prettier sister.

Her busy parents did not attach much importance to her brooding. Laughingly they said "her nose is out of joint." But from that childish misery has come a malice that has deepened with the years, and which taints every thought, word and deed.

NO ONE can make you do things you don't want to do. If you do something which is seemingly against your nature—take a job you don't like, marry a man you don't like, live in a place you don't like—you are, nevertheless, doing that because you want to do it . . . because some hidden fear or desire make it easier to do that than refuse to do it.

You NEVER do anything, however insignificant, without reason.

$10,000.00 CAN BE YOURS!

WILL YOU be in on the receiving end of the $15,000.00 in Cash Prizes to be paid by the Boston Record-American in this fascinating Rebus Game?

To win your share—and your share can be as much as $10,000.00—you've got to be in the contest, of course. And there's no time like the present to get started.

Today, bring yourself up to date by sending for the first two weeks' series of puzzles, made available to late starters without charge for a limited time, through the coupon below.

SOLVE THE 3 PUZZLES ON THIS PAGE

In the meantime, solve the three puzzles on this page. They are the first three puzzles of the Third Week's Series, which consists of Puzzles 13-18.

Each puzzle represents a word. To find that word, add the letters and names of objects as directed and cross out the specified letters and letters in the names of objects you are told to subtract. (See explanation below, headed "How to Solve a Rebus Puzzle.") Note the solution diagram after the equal sign, which contains as many blank squares as there are letters in the word you're seeking.

SUBMIT ANSWERS EACH WEEK WITH TEN CENTS IN COIN

When you get the first two series of puzzles in response to mailing the coupon, send your solutions in as promptly as possible, so as to become officially entered in the contest. This week's series (the Third) should be submitted any time before midnight, Saturday, March 9. Subsequent series should similarly be submitted within the week following publication of the series in the Record and American.

Ten cents in coin must be enclosed with each week's series of six answers, to qualify you for a prize. In return, contestants will receive a special set of Rebus puzzles at the conclusion of the contest.

NEATNESS DOESN'T COUNT; NO LETTERS TO WRITE; NO SUBSCRIPTIONS REQUIRED

FIRST PRIZE

$10,000.00

SECOND PRIZE* $2,000.00

Third Prize	$1000.00
Fourth Prize	$500.00
Fifth Prize	$350.00
Sixth Prize	$250.00
Seventh Prize	$150.00
Eighth Prize	$100.00
Ninth Prize	$100.00
Tenth Prize	$100.00
Ninety Prizes (at $5.00 each)	$450.00

How to Solve A Rebus Puzzle

For a quick, simple illustration of how to solve these puzzles, let's assume you were asked to solve a puzzle like this:

BREAD minus BED plus Y equals a 3-letter word.

You would cross out the letters B, E, D from the word BREAD leaving you only R A. To that you would add Y, giving you RAY as your answer. Get the idea?

Your answer to this puzzle, together with your solutions to the five other Rebus Puzzles appearing from Mon., Feb. 26, to Sat., March 2, inclusive, should be brought or mailed to the Rebus Editor, Boston Record-American, P. O. Box 2058, before Midnight, Sat., March 9, together with 10c in coin. In return for remittance, contestants will receive a special set of puzzles at the close of the contest.

THE RULES

1. [illegible]-American Rebus Game is open to all [illegible] residents of the New England States, except employees of the Boston Record, the Boston American and the Sunday Advertiser, members of their families, any person acting as a proxy for another, and any person who has won $500 or more in any newspaper contest.

2. Beginning Monday, February 12th, 1940, a Rebus puzzle will be published each weekday in the Boston Record and the Boston American. Contestants may obtain their puzzles from either publication. The six puzzles published during each week will constitute a series. There will be fifteen weekly series. Answers for each week's series of puzzles should be brought or mailed to the Contest Editor, care of the Boston Record-American Rebus Game. Answers for each week's series should be submitted within the week after that series appears in the Boston Record and the Boston American.

3. One hundred (100) prizes will be awarded by the Boston Record-American in accordance with the published schedule of prizes, to those 100 contestants who, by their solutions, achieve the 100 highest scores. No contestant may win more than one prize. Neatness does not count. Do not decorate your answers.

4. In case two or more contestants are tied for a certain prize, just what particular prize each contestant may be entitled to will be determined by submitting to each tied contestant a set of tie-breaking puzzles, and if necessary a second, third or fourth set of tie-breaking puzzles. Prizes will be awarded on the basis of the highest scores achieved by contestants, in accordance with the instructions and scoring regulations governing the solution of such tie-breaking puzzles. At the discretion of the Boston Record and the Boston American, tied contestants may be required to work the tie-breaking puzzles, without assistance, in the offices of the Boston Record or the Boston American. In case of final ties, duplicate prizes will be awarded.

5. In order to qualify for a prize, contestants are required to accompany each weekly series of answers with a remittance of 10c in coin. An individual file will be set up for each qualified contestant and each weekly set of answers duly filed therein. After the contest closes, each individual file will be duly judged. To those contestants who complete the 15 weekly series of puzzles and who in all other ways conform to the rules of the contest, the Boston Record-American will present a special series of fifteen original Rebus puzzles created by Harold Hart, foremost puzzle expert.

6. Any person, by entering this contest, agrees to abide by and accept as final the decision of the Boston Record and the Boston American on all matters affecting this contest, including among others the qualification of contestants, their disqualification at any time for any cause deemed necessary, the application of the rules, the judging of answers, the scoring of solutions, and the interpretation of such instructions (governing individual puzzles) as may be announced by the contest officials. By entering this contest, participants agree that their answers become the property of the Boston Record and the Boston American and will not be returned.

7. Entries that are not signed by name will not be considered eligible for prizes nor will any claims to the ownership of such entries be recognized. Entries which are illegible will not be considered. The Boston Record and the Boston American will not be responsible for entries or communications lost or unduly delayed either from the contestant to the Boston Record-American Contest Editor or from the Boston Record-American Contest Editor to the contestant.

Smart Set Functions

By BETTY ALDEN

WE'VE all read so much about Finland and Helsinki the last few months that the Waldensian Society has certainly chosen a subject of great popular appeal in presenting Howard MacDonald's movies and lecture on "Heroic Helsinki" at the Hotel Statler, the afternoon of March 12 . . .

Many box parties are being planned for the occasion and members of the committee arranging the affair include Dr. Samuel Tyler, president, and Miss Rose Dexter, treasurer of the society, Mrs. Arthur W. Hooper, Mrs. Rupert F. Frost, Mrs. G. Merlino, vice-president, and Miss Marguerite Fiske, secretary . . .

Also lending a helping hand in preparations are Mrs. Julian Lowell Coolidge, Dr. Henry Robbins, Mrs. John Dearing, Miss Mabel Jones and Mr. Byron S. Hurlbut . . .

* * *

Two in Spotlight

NO MATTER how March comes in, like a lion or a lamb, Mrs. Gordon Donald of Weston will have a lion's share of details to attend to with a debutante daughter and a bridegroom son both claiming the social spotlight during the approaching month . . .

Her attractive dark-haired daughter, Charlotte, will make her formal bow to society at a luncheon at the Weston Golf Club on March 6, and three weeks later her son, Gordon, Jr., will bestow his heart and hand on blonde Nancy Viele of Cambridge . . .

The bride-to-be, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Doris Viele and a member of the Junior League, will be a guest at the debutante luncheon together with Junior Leaguers Betsy Bradley, Amabel Eshleman, Margaret Goodhue, Elizabeth Jenney, Nancy Vogel, Sylvia Winsor, Anne Tarbell, Nancy Putnam Smith, Christina Lowell, Evelyn Baker, Priscilla Crocker, Becky Farnsworth and a number of others . . .

From a Society Editor's Notebook

SEEN ABOARD the Palm Beach Limited Sunday afternoon... Mrs. J. A. Lowell Blake of Boston enjoying a cheese omelette special as the diner sped through the Carolinas . . . She was at the table next to our correspondent who reports that she looked very chic in tailored black wool with a little grosgrain hat trimmed with a black and violet bow and yards of filmy black veiling . . .

On a downtown shopping expedition . . . Mrs. Richard Rowland Stebbins (Edith Parker) of Medfield replenishing her youngsters' wardrobes . . . Edith, who proved to be such a capable coach and director when she was in charge of Junior League plays a few years ago, was snugly wrapped in sealskin with a Tyrolean hat and fur-trimmed rainboots . . .

The Vincent Club is soon to sound the signal for its debutante members to hurry home from sojourns in the sunny South . . . It's the chief ambition of every talented debutante to have a prominent part in the annual Vincent musical, so the girls will gladly forfeit enjoyable hours on tropic beaches and tennis courts in order to be home in time for try-outs on March 11 . . .

LOUISE AND AMY RANNEY, attractive daughters of Dudley Ranney of Weston, take time out from Junior League and Vincent Club activities to check over invitation lists for the former's wedding on June's final Saturday to Robert Lyman Thayer of Philadelphia. Amy will be maid of honor for her sister at the afternoon ceremony in the First Parish Church.

Aristos Club Opens Season

Aristos Club swings into its spring calendar with a bridge and fashion show in Filene's Party House on Saturday afternoon at 3 o'clock . . . proceeds going to the scholarship fund.

Many unusual features are being arranged by the planning committee . . . headed by Marjorie Kendrick, who is aided by Ednah Padden, Marguerite Kelly and Mrs. John Conway.

FIRST ANNUAL POPS CONCERT FRIDAY

The first annual Pops concert under the auspices of the Hub Club will be held Friday night at the Copley-Plaza. The Weltman Orchestral Society, symphonic group of 40 musicians, with Edward I. Adelman, conductor, will present an evening rich in color, variety and musical lore. The orchestra will be assisted by Mme. Sascha Alexandrova, radio and concert soprano. Allen Hobaness will accompany Mme. Sascha Alexandrova.

Among the distinguished Bostonians who have subscribed as patrons are: Gov. and Mrs. Saltonstall, former Gov. and Mrs. Alvan T. Fuller, Senator Lawrence Curtis, Judge Emma Fall Schofield, Mary Lawrence Barrows, George Whiting Roberts, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Dreyfus, and Mr. and Mrs. Gardner Wilson.

VISIT IN NEW YORK

Mrs. John Wells Farley of Needham, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Mitton of Boston and Miss Katherine Endicott of Dedham are among Bostonians spending a few days at the Ritz Carlton in New York.

You Can Be Beautiful

New, Exciting Perfume

By ARLINE GOULD

If you're the kind of a gal who likes to be in the know about the newest in everything, you will want to be the first in your set to wear a new, exciting perfume called "Confetti."

Fashions there are in scents, as in everything. You know how each season one perfume suddenly becomes the darling of the smartest women . . . well, this one, we predict, will ring the bell in 1940.

Psychologists might say it had some connection with the troubled state of the world, as they explain why in wartime the night clubs and lightest comedies flourish; perhaps the famous French house that brought out this new perfume had one of those sub-conscious urges to produce something especially gay.

At any rate, this perfume has a carnival mood in its fragrance. Goodness knows it's hard to describe a scent, however intoxicating it may be. But this gala perfume is blithe, buoyant, beautiful. It reminds us that in America life is still good; fun and frolic are still our happy privilege.

We were not surprised to learn that two years of patient experiment went into its creation. It is impulsive, infectious, coquettish; neither heavy nor light, nor just in between. It has a style and an effect quite its own.

You'll love it, once you have sampled it. Moreover, you will find that it clings wonderfully, and keeps its colorful character right to the end.

Even its packaging is impudently gay. It comes in a cylindrical flacon with petticoat ruffles of glass flitting 'round the curve of crystal, with a sculptured bow of glass knotted pertly on the top of the stopper.

Call me at LIBerty 4000, weekdays, except Saturdays, for the parfumeur who has given this exquisite scent, and the shop that carries it; or write, enclosing a stamped and self-addressed envelope, to me at the Boston American.

Regis Guild To Hold Sale

Regis College Guild will hold a penny sale next Friday evening at 8 o'clock at the Hotel Touraine . . . for the benefit of the scholarship fund.

Mrs. Edward J. Rhatigan . . president of the Guild . . . is general chairman of the annual charity event. Her assistants are Mrs. Charles H. Early, Mrs. G. Frank McDonald . . . in charge of publicity . . . and Mrs. James J. Ahearn of Milton, ticket chairman.

Serving on the various committees are Mrs. Joseph E. Scanlon, Mrs. Sydney Dunn, Mrs. James W. McNamara, Mrs. T. Edward Sheehan, Mrs. John M. McInerney, Mrs James F. Foss, Mrs. Joseph Gough, Mrs. John J. Devaney, Mrs. F. L. Creedon, Mrs. Arthur E. Nicholson, Mrs. T. E. Childs, Mrs. M. A. McKeikue, Mrs. John Crowley, Mrs. Walter Burns, Mrs. George Farrell, Mrs. P. H. McCarthy, Mrs. A. J Macdonnell, Mrs. William H. Knodell, Mrs. T. J. Sullivan, Mrs. Alexander McInnis, Mrs. C. Raymond Roberts.

Mrs. Charles W. Finnerty, Mrs. Joseph A. Fitzgerald, Mrs. Roy E. Connore, Mrs. Roger Deveney, Mrs. William C. Dowling, Mrs. John W. Gahan, Mrs. Mary Finucane, Mrs. Charles F. Cary, Mrs. J. Leo Sullivan, Mrs. J. F. Roche, Mrs. Francis J. Horgan, Mrs. William Taylor, Mrs. Stephen Boylan, Mrs. G. Frank Sullivan, Mrs. Francis J. Keefe, Mrs. William DeCoste, Mrs. Andrew Connell, Mrs. Leo MacDonald, Mrs. James T. Donovan, Mrs. Thomas J. Carroll, Mrs. Edward S. Murphy, Mrs. Harry Monks, Mrs. Joseph J. Mulhern, Mrs. David Foley and Mrs. William H. Sutton.

Young set members . . . working for the success of the Guild's scholarship fund benefit include Josephine Hartigan, Sue Sheridan, Hannah Reardon and Marguerite Pierce.

JUNIOR LEAGUE'S CONCERT MARCH 14

Peggy Stuart, Cambridge society girl, whose interests and talents are so diversified that she can be called a musician, artist, figure skater, conductor or rower, is busy rehearsing the Junior League orchestra for its annual concert in the League ballroom March 14.

The Boston branch is the only one of the national association of Junior Leagues which can boast of a symphony orchestra . . . and it is largely due to Peggy's talent as a conductor that it exists .

WINTER SPORTS FANS

Boston winter sports fans who have been sojourning at the Penigewassett Hotel in Plymouth, N. H., during the best of the skiing season include Miss Betty Chick of Boston, Mr. and Mrs. John Watters and Mr. and Mrs. Charles Stewart of Weston, Mr. and Mrs. William McGuckin of Lincoln, Frances Garvin of South Lincoln, and Mr. Nelson Price of Needham.

For Joyful Cough Relief, Try This Home Mixture

This splendid recipe is used by millions every year, because it makes such a dependable, effective remedy for coughs due to colds. It's so easy to mix—a child could do it.

From any druggist, get 2½ ounces of Pinex, a compound containing Norway Pine and palatable guaiacol, its concentrated form, well-known for its soothing effect on throat and bronchial membranes.

Then make a syrup by stirring two cups of granulated sugar and one cup of water a few moments, until dissolved. It's no trouble at all, and takes but a moment. No cooking needed.

Put the Pinex into a pint bottle and add your syrup. This gives you a full pint of very effective and quick-acting cough remedy, and you get about four times as much for your money. It never spoils, and is very pleasant—children love it.

You'll be amazed by the way it takes hold of coughs, giving you delightful relief. It loosens the phlegm, soothes the irritated membranes, and helps clear the air passages. Money refunded if not pleased in every way.

Georgette Crepe Is Back

By ANNICE BRINK

DO YOU REMEMBER when your "best" frock was of a lively sheer fabric called Georgette crepe . . . and haven't you ever wondered what became of that flattering material? Well, it is back again this season?

Georgette crepe, for the information of the young fry, is a fabric which Bianchini, Ferier originated many years ago and which became a classic in the silk industry. For some years now we have seen little of it.

This year the firm has revived it, and it has been received with rhoule of enthusiasm by their customers. They have already shown some stunning black and navy frocks in it for immediate wear under fur coats.

The material is a smooth sheer that is very finely creped both ways. It is somewhere between a mousseline and a modern sheer in transparency and weight, not as transparent as mousseline, considerably lighter than the current sheers. It pleats beautifully and is light enough to tuck, gather and shir without bulkiness . . . you will be seeing it in the new long-torso dresses.

Also, if you go back that far (although you needn't admit it), you will remember your childhood "accordian pleated" dresses for dancing school parties. You are going to see more of that fine pleating this season, in the sheers and in Georgette. It is adaptable, particularly, to those lovely Grecian evening gowns and to dressy afternoon frocks.

WHILE THIS CHARMING FROCK is made of a pebble sheer, it would adapt itself beautifully to the newly revived Georgette crepe, which Annice Brink discusses today. Note the peplum belt, a Criterion creation, which can be worn again and again with any dress that needs a bit of brightening. It comes in soft suede, and its fluted edge gives a dress-up air to a utilitarian costume as well as to the afternoon dress it graces here.

Birthday Horoscope

By FRANCES DRAKE

Wednesday, February 28

IF TODAY IS YOUR BIRTHDAY — You are loving, friendly, generous; likely to permit your talents to lie dormant unless you urge yourself and are encouraged to bring them forth and do something with them. Remember you must feed, nurture and exercise whatever you want to grow, and that goes for your capabilities if you desire to get the full benefit from them. You will love nature and could succeed especially quickly in activities connected with land, produce, outdoor affairs, etc.

LUCKY NUMBER—Today's lucky number is 51.

LUCKY COLOR—Today's lucky color is beige.

Gave Up Her Pals for Him

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX:

I am 19 years of age and went steady with a young man my own age for about 10 months. I have given up all my hobbies and friends to please him. Whenever other boys asked me to go out, I refused, because I loved this one so much.

Shortly before Christmas we had a quarrel on account of his habit of breaking dates, which he thought he had the right to do. I let it pass a few times, but then we broke up because of this failing of his. I even gave him money when he needed it, as he is fond of playing cards.

Now I've come to the point where I want to forget entirely what a fool I've been, but it's so hard. He is employed at the same place of business with me, so I have to see him occassionally there. He also tells me not to bother him any more, that he doesn't want to see or hear of me again.

I'm so unhappy, Miss Fairfax, because, you see, I still love him. How can I forget him? B.

* * *

Where is your pride, my dear girl? — that sense of self-respect which keeps one from joining the doormat guild. The young man has proved conclusively he is not interested in you. And as for borrowing money with which to play cards, if he had no other shortcomings, that stamps him as undesirable.

MARGARET HUTCHINS ENGAGED TO WED

There is widespread interest in Boston social circles in news of the engagement of Margaret Hutchins, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Hutchins of Chicago, to Anthony M. Ryerson, son of Mrs. Donald Ryerson, also of the Windy City.

The future bride is a sister of Chauncey K. Hutchins and his wife, the former Polly Wardwell of Brookline, who celebrated their second wedding anniversary Monday. Mr. Ryerson's sister, Joan, is now Mrs. George W. W. Brewster, Jr., popular young matron of Boston. He is a nephew of Mr. and Mrs. Donald McKay Frost of Dover and a cousin of Joseph T. Ryerson, Jr., who married Maria Ducey of Boston.

Crop's Best for Preserves

By MARTHA LEE

What kind of preserves today—strawberry, pineapple, plum, peach, cherry? The best of the crop from every state in the Union is at the beck and call of the pantry shelf, now that preservers have perfected their art, and local crop failures do not stop them from imprisoning the fruits and sugar in glass jars for your all-year consumption.

A shopping tour at your grocers' will let you peek through the glass windows of the jars to discover dozens of kinds you may even not have tasted. Boysenberry, gooseberry, pineapple, apricot and loganberry are now alongside the more familiar strawberry, red raspberry and cherry.

You may buy and try with perfect confidence, too, for the best traditions of the household art of preserving have been maintained by the preservers.

WAYS TO KEEP "IN-A-JAM"

Preserves—and remember that jams, butters, marmalades and conserves belong to the family, too—have always been a favorite spread for bread, an accompaniment to meat, a companion to biscuits and crackers. But the new ways to do with them make you want to stay "in a jam" forever. Here are just a few; clip and save them to try with the contents of the jars on your preserve shelf.

BREAD 'N BUTTER PUDDING

6 slices bread, ¼ inch thick
3 tbsp. softened butter
½ tsp. cinnamon
¼ tsp. allspice
¼ tsp. nutmeg
½ cup red raspberry jam
2 eggs, slightly beaten
1½ tbsp. sugar
¾ tsp. salt
1½ tsp. grated lemon rind
1½ cups milk, scalded

Cut crusts from bread, butter both sides with blend of butter and spices. Spread 3 slices with jam and cover with remaining slices. Place in buttered, shallow baking dish, 8x8 inches, and cut each in quarters. Combine eggs, sugar, salt, and lemon rind; add milk slowly, mixing thoroughly. Pour over bread. Place dish in pan of hot water. Bake in moderate oven (350 deg. F.) 1 hour. Serve warm with or without cream. Makes 4 to 6 servings.

MARMALADE CORN MUFFINS

1¼ tsp. baking powder
½ tsp. salt
1-3 cup corn meal
1 egg, well beaten
½ cup orange marmalade
3 tbsp. shortening, melted

Sift flour once, measure, add baking powder and salt and sift again. Add corn meal and mix well. Combine remaining ingredients. Add all at once to flour mixture, beating only enough to dampen all flour. Bake in greased muffin pans in hot oven (425 deg. F.) 20 to 25 minutes or until done. Makes nine two-inch muffins.

HAM LOAF DELICIOUS

½ cup soft bread crumbs
1 cup milk, scalded
1 egg, slightly beaten
½ lb. smoked ham, ground
¾ lb. pork, ground
½ tsp. black pepper
1-3 cup sherry wine
1-3 cup pineapple preserves
½ cup sliced sweet pickles
2 pimientos, chopped

Place bread crumbs and milk in bowl; let stand 10 minutes. Add eggs, meats and pepper, and mix well. Combine remaining ingredients and pour into loaf pan, pressed and packed mixture. Bake in moderately hot oven (375 deg. F.) 1 hour. Remove from pan and serve with sauce in pan, thickened slightly with cornstarch. Makes 6 servings.

HIS LAST HEADLINE

A Complete Short Story Daily on This Page

By PAUL D. AUGSBURG

AT 1:38 the fog horn started. It was like a dirge wailing through the clamor of racketing power belt, hammers and lathes. San Francisco's hills, a mile away, stood grayly dim across the water . . . and then the silent curtain closed and they were gone. There was only the Rock.

Ed Loffler sat on the floor of the shop with his legs spread wide and a drum between them. The heavy iron drum lay upon its side while the convict hammered to straighten its dents. A big brute, Loffler, six feet two and built to match his extra height. The muscles rippled under his shirt, under the jungle growth of hair which covered his arms and all his body. News reporters had dubbed him "the Ape."

"Row-w-w-w!" he rumbled under his breath in time with the mournful voice of the horn. The call evoked a memory in him. On a day such as this his career had begun—a day when the fog hung thick on the docks and he drove a truck for a draying firm. The cloak of mist was too inviting. An elderly watchman caught him stealing, and Loffler had slugged him twice with his fists while a fog horn dirged for the old guy's soul.

A few hours later the watchman died. Loffler had got the news from the papers. That was a thrill he would never forget, seeing the headlines, reading the stories, knowing that he was the reason for them. The lure of publicity got in his blood. From that time on his life was molded

"Row-w-w!" he growled as the horn sang again. He had not remained anonymous long. As crime followed crime his name became known. He formed his own gang. He ranged the country. Ape Loffler loomed in front page print.

The big man grinned while he pounded the drum. He'd certainly got his name in the papers! But that made him think of his bulging scrapbook, and then the grin vanished; they'd taken it from him: the warden had all those clippings now, with his photos of Pearl and the Pastowitz dame.

A FORGOTTEN MAN?

A frown creased wrinkles under his cap, under the fringe of his stiff red hair. Could they have begun to forget him outside? Not just Pearl and the Pastowitz dame, but Loffler's public—the countless millions who read their papers day by day.

The Ape stood up and righted the can. He cast a furtive glance at the window. Its pane was wet and grayly opaque. The Rock had become an isle in limbo, a prison fortress of barracks and shops, of high wire fences, smothered in mist. At intervals the horn crashed out, warning the shrouded ships on the bay. Any moment now the order would come to march all convicts back to their cells.

The Principal Character In "His Last Headline"

ED LOFFLER, known as The Ape, and a lifer in Alcatraz, decides to make a break. And his one reason for attempting the wellnigh impossible is the publicity he will receive in the newspapers.

As he glanced from the winidow the Ape encountered the mocking eyes of Joe Maroni. The latter sneered as much as to say, "I know what you're thinking. Escape from the Rock! You haven't the brains or guts to try it."

Loffler bared his teeth in a snarl. Maroni was small and quick in the head. Shrewd cunning, not daring physical strength, had made him lord of the underworld. His newspaper sobriquet was 'King'. But this wasn't Loffler's gnawing grievance. When both were at large, in their full careers, Maroni was always the one referred to as Public Enemy No. 1.

Out of the corner of his eye the Ape saw Reilley answer the phone. Reilley the guard, the guy with the blarney, who always cajoled the island's cons as if they were tigers and lions and wolves caged in a zoo and he as their keeper.

A switch was pulled. The belt quit running. A whistle shrilled. Then the order, "Fall in." The prisoners started to shuffle along, but the Ape did not move. Maroni brushed past him. "O. K., you mugg"—contempt, derision from motionless lips. The Ape knelt down.

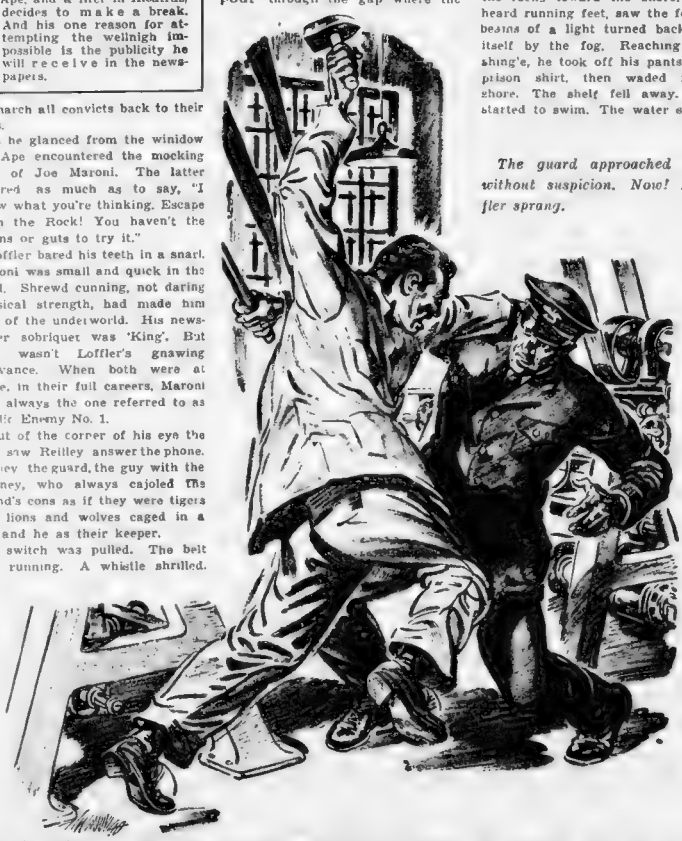
"Step on it, Loffler. Quit your stalling. You can come back tomorrow and play."

"I broke my shoe lace," the big man grumbled.

Reilley came striding down the shop. He had only a club to defend himself with. The Ape's huge foot concealed the hammer, his hamlike hand; the "broken" lace. The guard approached him without suspicion. Now! Loffler sprang.

MORE NEWS!

One blow was enough. He leaped at the window. Though big, the Ape was lithely agile. Three blows of the hammer, all blood and hair, and he breathed the dampness of ocean fog. He could almost see it pour through the gap where the pane had just been. Then he hung on the sill.



The guard approached him without suspicion. Now! Loffler sprang.

In that instant Loffler looked toward the tower where a guard stood vigil. Blotted from sight! He dropped from the sill to the stony ground, thinking of Joe Maroni, the King, the smart guy with brains who schemed each step. Not the big Ape; that wasn't his style; he moved on impulse, then struck fast.

He took off his shoes, dashed across the rocks and reached the high fence fifty feet from the tower. Fifty feet! In this fog that was just as good as fifty hundred. He scaled the meshed wire. Toes, fingers, apelike, carried him up and over the barbs to the other side. He could hear the phone in the guard tower ring. Then the voice of the siren burst on the Rock, gulping the fog horn's plaintive bellow.

Loffler came to the bluff on the western side and scrambled down the rocks toward the shore. He heard running feet, saw the feeble beams of a light turned back on itself by the fog. Reaching the shing'e, he took off his pants, his prison shirt, then waded from shore. The shelf fell away. He started to swim. The water stung him, bitingly cold. But he was warmed by what he had done.

By the thought of the presses which soon would start whirling: "'Ape' Loffler Escapes From Alcatraz!" Even now, in the city toward which he was swimming, the news would be breaking. The press wires would hum. In Chicago, New York, all over the country newspaper guys would rush their big type so that millions of people might read about him!

The Ape swam easily, using the breast stroke. He was different from that punk Maroni, always planning each move in advance. When he reached the piers, time enough to think of what to do then. Now his job was to swim.

Abruptly the siren ceased its shrieking. He heard the fog horn wailing once more—wailing, then pausing to catch its breath. In such an interval Loffler detected the throb of a motor out on the bay. Soon others joined it. The hunt was on, launches searching for him in the soup.

A whistle came nearer over the water. Thrashing paddlewheels beat or his ears. Then lights, very dim, diffused by the fog; the ferry from Sausalito passed and glided away to vanish in mist.

A searchlight. The harbor patrol from Frisco? The sound of the motor sang in his ears. The fog was less gray now. The boat drew nearer. He ducked his head under, seeing the light beam swinging toward him. He rose to the surface. Suddenly Loffler's green eyes blinked, for the light was on him—and then it moved on.

TRAPPED!

But they had seen him! The light darted back. He could hear excited shouts from the hulls. In that moment he thought of Joe Maroni safe in a cell, saw his sneering smile, even heard the big brain's taunting whisper, "O. K., you mugg." The Ape's jaw set. Go back to that place and see the King laugh? Not he. They'd never take him alive.

The fog horn was silent. The lights of the city twinkled across at the Rock from its hills. In a hospital bed the Ape lay dying. He knew it as well as the Warden did, watching as Loffler opened his eyes.

For a while they stared at each other, silent. The Warden's face did not change when the convict grinned, but he bent to catch what it was he said:

"I'm done for. Last request. You gotta."

"Well, what is it?"

"The Frisco papers. You can't turn down a guy that's dying."

The Warden considered a moment. He nodded. He left the room and went to his office. Returning, he saw the eager smile on Loffler's face. He opened the paper.

He watched him. Never, he later declared, had he seen more bitter disappointment. Never had anyone died so bleakly as Ed the Ape in that hospital bed. His raging curses, weakened by pain, followed the warden clear to the door; but the physical pain was as nothing, he knew, to the mental pain which Loffler suffered.

Back in his office, he spread the paper across his desk. He smiled at it grimly. This paper had been the first on the street after the news of the convict's escape. Someone, excited, had made a mistake in flashing the city police to prepare. Succeeding editions had the facts right, but this one carried a headline which read:

"KING" MARONI ESCAPES FROM ROCK AFTER KILLING GUARD WITH HAMMER!

Aircrafts Led Advance in Stock Market

NEW YORK, Feb. 28 (AP)—Stocks pushed upward a bit today on an advance by aircrafts which was supported by steels and motors.

The best prices were out by fractions late, but the rate of trade held fairly steady.

Topping the rise were Pan American Airways, United Aircraft, Douglas, General Motors, Chrysler, U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Goodyear, Goodrich, Allied Chemical, Eastman, duPont, Anaconda, American Telephone and Loft. The last again reached a high for the year.

Bonds were firm. Commodities were uneven. Levels on the Paris bourse rose a little, but London and Amsterdam were unsteady.

Commentators noted an absence of participation by the general public in market dealings, viewing the operations as almost purely professional and, consequently, lacking in any great momentum.

Airplanes and automobiles were looked upon by Wall Street as providing the foremost bright spots in the somewhat lighter industrial horizon. Both industries were operating at increased momentum with the sky literally the limit for aviation output.

Railroads reported themselves operating at a rate 10 per cent higher than in 1939, largely because of increased commodity shipments.

High ranking among these commodities was cotton. The commerce department reported 1,125,000 bales were exported in January compared with 327,000 in the like 1939 month.

DECLARE DIVIDEND ON HEARST STOCK

LOS ANGELES, Feb. 28 (INS)—The directors of Hearst Consolidated Publications, Inc., met and declared a dividend for the current quarterly period ending Feb. 29, 1940, of 1 77/100 per cent (equivalent to 43¾ cents a share) on the outstanding class "A" stock of the corporation, payable March 15 next to stock of record on March 1.

B. & M. Profit Up

The Boston & Maine R. R., aided by good weather in January and increased traffic in freight, passenger, mail and express service, earned a net profit of $43,685, which compares with a deficit of $21,607 for the same period a year ago.

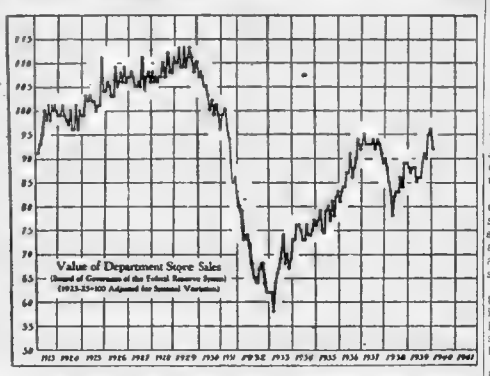
Losses Fail to Worry Uncle Sam



Uncle Sam in his oft played role of investment banker shows a lack of concern for losses that is bewildering the financial world . . . And set private enterprise to wondering just how long it can hope to cope with him . . .

COMPETITIVE . . . Activities in the field of lending were never based on ability to take underwriting lickings . . . Neither the private investment banker nor the private investor could exist for long under such conditions . . . Yet less than two weeks ago the Treasury reported to Congress that borrowers from 31 government agencies had defaulted on interest and principal payments to the sums of $1,053,742,499 . . . Over a billion dollars lost without a whimper . . . And one presumably written off or charged to taxpayers . . . Which, if suffered directly, would have caused a howl for an investigation . . .

• • •

SMALL WONDER . . . That private enterprise in the field of investment banking considers itself face to face with a first rate crisis . . . R. McLean Stewart, vice-president of Harriman Ripley & Co., Inc., is responsible for bringing the situation into the limelight . . . He thinks the issue fundamentally concerns whether or not the essential functions of investment banking are to be carried on by private business or the government . . . Business, he pointed out in an address before the New School of Social Research in New York, cannot compete with those agencies of government which have little or no need to be concerned about economic risk . . .

• • •

THE MARKET . . . Is undergoing a test, in our opinion, whose seriousness belies the surface lack of interest . . . With activity at low levels prices have dropped back to the January minimums . . . Industrial and financial news improved . . . Political news turned less favorable . . . Foreign news is about the same . . . Taken together they hardly represent sound excuse for a test of the low . . . Yet the test is taking place . . . And that is our reason for believing current market whose seriousness, in all probability, will only be appreciated in retrospect . . .

• • •

THE RECORD . . . Of retail sales when spread out in chart form covering a period of years provides one of the most interesting of graph studies . . . That presented today was prepared by the Alexander Hamilton Institute and is adjusted for seasonal variation . . . It shows quite a sharp drop for January . . . But one leaving the index far above the comparable 1939 level . . . And since progress is measured in terms of the improvement one period shows over another it should not occasion undue alarm . . . Another feature of interest is the exceeding of the 1937 high last year . . . Something similar industrial activity indices could not accomplish . . .

• • •

NOTEBOOK . . . Bullard Co. gossip rigot now is about tops in cheer . . . For it is understood in State St. circles the company has orders on hand that will require capacity operations throughout 1940 . . . With earnings for the period placed at an expected $4 per share . . . Atlas Plywood, a New England favorite, is another company connected with extreme cheer . . . It is said to have more business on hand than can be conveniently handled . . . While our trend indicator agreed with the recent dip in prices it has not, as yet, at least, intimated anything very serious in the way of reaction.

TRADING BAN ADOPTION SEEN

NEW YORK, Feb. 28 (AP)—A proposal to bar members of the New York stock exchange from dealing in its listed stocks on other exchanges was up for action today by the board of governors.

Many brokers believed the governors would aprove the proposal in an effort to halt diversion of dealings to outside exchanges, particularly the Chicago and Boston markets.

The board was slated to meet after the close of the market.

A committee headed by Robert L. Stott, after studying the question, recommended that the exchange enforce an old rule providing suspension or expulsion of a member who "deals publicly outside the exchange in securities dealt in on the exchange."

"Dealing" was interpreted as meaning the making of markets and diverting of orders from the New York Exchange.

UNION CARBIDE PAYS 60 CENTS

NEW YORK, Feb. 28 (INS)—Directors of Union Carbide & Carbon Corp. declared a dividend of 60 cents per share, payable April 1, to stockholders of record March 8. The last dividend, paid on Jan. 1, was 50 cents

Motor Car Production Speeds Up

DETROIT, Feb. 28 (AP)—The motorcar industry is swinging back into high level production activity much earlier than generally had been expected after a "seasonal" tapering off and trade circles are speculating upon what part war orders, on hand and in prospect, may have in the upturn.

The increased output volume not only is contra-seasonal but it has started at a time when retailers' stocks generally are fairly well filled and production of the industry as a whole is slightly in excess of consumer demand.

Because of these circumstances there is a very definite disposition in some authoritative circles of the industry to believe that a heavy stocking of dealers at this time is being pressed designedly.

Ward's Reports, in its current issue, took note of "other business" coming into the motor plants. It referred to "educational" orders placed by the War Department for shell casings, steel stampings, marine engines, plane engine parts and others, and added that a check up of citizenship already has taken place at Packard, Cadillac, Plymouth, Dodge and other plants where such business is under way.

AUSTEN LAKE

Hugh Duffy Tells Why Managers Grow Gray

EN ROUTE WITH RED SOX.

A NEVER ENDING SOURCE OF WONDER IS THE gray, but not grizzled, 75-year-old rooster named Hugh Duffy — flat in the stomach, lean in the jaw and pink of the cheek. For 57 years baseball has been his life—player, manager, scout and coach.

AUSTEN LAKE

The years have touched him lightly. So I said, as we watched the last of the snow drifts whizz past, "What's the recipe for staying young, Hughie?" Hugh smiled his benign, parsons grin. "Stay away from worry!" he said and levelled into his topic. Hughie's like that! You step on his conversational starter and chat pours forth like a well-integrated motor.

"Rabbit Maranville," he said, "used to say that the reason he lasted so long as a player was that the moment he closed the clubhouse door he went home and forgot baseball till the next afternoon. He said he learned that lesson while a youngster because he had known a player on the Braves who used to take the ball game home with him, especially if it had been a losing game, and he'd play it over again at the dinner table, or in his dreams. And after a few years, Rab said, both the player and his wife had a nervous breakdown."

"A BALL PLAYER'S ONLY CONCERN," SAID DUFF, "is his own part in the game and the only time he begins to chew internally is when he finds himself in a hitting slump. Then he worries about himself and not 23 other fellows on the club. That's the manager's job."

A ball player, said Hughie, is like a factory worker. When he shuts down his lathe after five o'clock, he doesn't have to think about machinery until he punches his time card next morning. But the chances are, while he is snoozing soundly, the manager of the concern is pacing the floor or pitching in his bed trying to figure a way to reduce overhead or step up production.

No baseball manager, said Hughie, ever thinks the other team won a ball game. As he looks at it, his team lost it. Somebody kicked a grounder in the clutch, or his ace pitcher lacked his usual stuff, or his batters were biting at bad balls, or a base runner missed a sign that would have meant the tying run.

So every defeat is due, said Hughie, not to the strength of the other side, but to the weakness of his own. And when Duffy talks, he dabs your knee, clutches your shoulder, leans confidentially near and gives you his blue-eyed stare. "So the manager's got to figure out what to do about it," said he. "If it's just a boot by a dependable shortstop, or a sudden spasm of wildness by a normally airtight pitcher, or a failure of a good man to bunt properly—he doesn't worry much about it. But when he watches a player he's counted on fading day by day, he realizes something must be done. So he gets to thinking, rattling the things around in his head—worrying. Especially at night when he can give his whole attention to worrying."

Is the player just in a temporary slump? Will he snap out of it? Is he breaking training? Has he begun to go down hill? If so, has the club got the right replacement for him? Or, if not, where can it get one immediately? What players am I prepared to give without hurting the team?

DOES JOE CRONIN WORRY? HIS NATURAL buoyancy on the field, his hail fellowship in the hotels, and his college cheer leader mannerisms would lead one to label him a habitual optimist.

"Sure!" said Hughie with conviction. "Right now he's wrestling with several problems. I'll bet he tugs the mover in his mind long after midnight when the street noises outside have stopped and about the only creatures awake are the night birds and him.

"Which of his pitchers is he going to school for that important relief job—Dickman, Heving, Ostermueller, Galehouse, Bagby, Grove? Is he apt to overwork the boys in training and pay up with a late summer slump? Is Dom DiMaggio the hitting outfielder he is advertised?"

I asked Duffy what he considered a major league manager's principal problem and he answered unhesitatingly, "To keep from straining mentally to the point where he loses his sense of baseball values—where he yanks a pitcher too quick or delays too long; where he loses his nerve in the pinch and is afraid to squeeze a baserunner home, or to play his infield back for the double play. The minute a manager tightens up and gets the twitters the whole team senses it and his goose is cooked."

* * *

Said Hughie: "A manager can help a club if his judgment and understanding of human nature is sound, or deter it if he lacks those qualities. But no manager ever won a pennant by sheer master minding—the legends of McGraw,

WILLIAMS OPTIMISTIC AS RED SOX HEAD SOUTH

AUSTIN LAKE TED WILLIAMS HERB FINNEGAN

By HERB FINNEGAN

EN ROUTE TO SARASOTA AND SOME SUNSHINE, Feb. 27—The ballplayers—the illustrious Theodore Williams, Ulysses Lupien from Harvard and Ted Olson from Dartmouth—and some 20 card players, including officials and newspapermen, were aboard and beaming as the Red Sox special steamed out of the South Station at 8:30 this morning, headed for the Florida training base.

Williams, the tall, dark and handsome kid who led the league in runs-batted-in, was the hero of the excursion, without doubt, and rattled off sparkling answers as rapidly as questions were popped at him.

"Will you hit 50 home runs?"

"You never can tell," said Ted, "I might, if I get in the groove and stay in there."

"What will your batting average be?"

"I hit .326 as a freshman. I'll improve on that I hope."

"How about the Yankees?"

"With some luck and some pitching we can beat them. Why not?"

Williams spent the last three weeks vacationing with aunts in New York and came to Boston to be with the get-away party, one of the largest ever, although there were only three athletes to satisfy the cameraman and smile as their bulbs flashed.

ADD MANY EN ROUTE

More will be picked up on the way and there may be sufficient to choose up sides by the time this train rolls into sun-drenched (we all hope) Sarasota and the work of building a Boston pennant winner gets started.

Gene Desautels, from Holy Cross, and Alton Deuse, from Providence College, were scheduled to join up and be assigned berths at Providence. This makes Williams the lone non-collegian in the squad, but then, as Ted claims, you don't have to go to college to hit in the .300's.

Among those checked in by Travelling Secretary Phil Troy were Tom Daley of Cambridge, third base coach for the Sox; Hugh Duffy, Fenway Park's general handy man; and Trainer Win Green, who said a tearful good-bye to the Bruins last night and takes up his new duties as training extraordinary for the Cronin crew.

STILL TALKING BRUINS

"Now those Bruins, they'll wreck those Rangers," Win was saying, trying to crowd a word in edgewise about hockey when the conversation, naturally was all about baseball and the Red Sox.

Royal rooters included John Corcoran, brother of Fred of golfing fame; Dr. Bill Ross, well-known dentist and one of the most rabid of all baseball fans; Thomas H. Donahue, former ball player and journalist; Medford's mayor John E. Carr; Jimmy Ferretti from Kennedy's; Tom McEnaney, Boston attorney; Phil Troy's uncle, George Hurley, from Haverhill; Arthur Murphy of Milton and Frank Reynolds, once head of the Boston College A. A.

Bruins Smear Hawks

Those Chicago Blackhawks were he hottest gang in hockey until hey made the mistake of wandering into the Boston Garden last night.

Chicago had gone nine games without a loss before the Bruins reared up and snapped out of their two-game losing streak by splattering the Hawks all over the ice to the tune of 6 to 0 to climb within two points of the league leading idle Rangers.

To make the splattering complete and the evening perfect for the assembled gathering of 11,446, Milt Schmidt came up with a right hook that would have turned Joe Louis green with envy as he clouted a gentleman named Mush March.

This scrap was the highlight of the night. It occurred shortly after the third period got underway. March picked up a loose puck and went roaring down the ice with Schmiddy after him.

LIP AND NOSE CUT

Needless to say March was caught and Milt nudged him out of position and back around the net. This infuriated Mush so that when he broke away he slapped his stick in the general direction of Milt and caught the popular Bruins center right in the face, cutting his lip and nose enough to draw quite a bit of claret.

That was enough for Mr. Schmidt. He wheeled around and nailed March at the boards. Punches started to fly and March received most of them. One fan, so infuriated that he dashed down to the boards, also went after March but a gendarme stopped this civilian hero quickly which was probably just as well for Schmidt needed no help whatsoever.

March drew a five-minute penalty and Schmidt was sent off for two. Then came the payoff of the night—in the penalty box. March looked at Schmidt innocently and inquired:

"How come you're bleeding, Milt?"

It's a wonder that Schmidt did not finish him then ad there.

But while Milt took punching honors for the night, he failed to gather a goal or an assist to fatten his league leading individual scoring total. Instead it was the Cowley line, which had gone scoreless for three games, which broke out in a rush of points and assists.

COWLEY LINE HOT

Playmaking Bill Cowley and his two great sides, Roy Conacher and Mel Hill scored five of the six goals and picked up seven assists. Cowley had a goal and three assists, while Conacher tied him with two goals and five assists plus one lost tooth and Hill came up with the same as Roy except that he retained all his teeth.

Bobby Bauer tallied the other goal on a pass from Woody Dumart but Dit Clapper set the play up rather than Schmidt to get the assist.

ODD SHOTS AT THE NET

The Hawks have not whipped the Bruins in Boston since way back in the early part of March, 1937, close to three years ago . . . the visitors lost Les Cunningham early in the game when Des Smith checked him so violently into the boards that Les turned his right ankle and had to retire for the night.

AFRICAN ESKIMO—Miss Edwina Blades (appropriate name for a skating star) takes time out to lace up her skates during New York showing of the European Ice Revue. Miss Blades hails from South Africa, but how she learned to skate in that heated climate is problematical.

Heirs in Fight To Save Chisox

CHICAGO, Feb. 28 (AP)—Family heirs of J. Louis Comiskey alleged today that the First National Bank, executor of his estate, had "violated the trust and confidence reposed in it by the decedent" in proposing to sell the Chicago White Sox baseball club, a Comiskey enterprise since its foundation.

The widow, Mrs. Grace Reidy Comiskey, and the children, Dorothy, 22; Gracie Lou, 18, and Charles, 2d, 14, through their attorney, Thomas J. Sheehan, asserted:

"The action of the First National Bank is directly contrary to the expressed directions and wishes of said decedent to said First National Bank of Chicago."

Kemp Wicker Signs Montreal Contract

MONTREAL, Feb. 28 (AP)—Kemp Wicker, southpaw pitcher, is the first of the Montreal Royals to return his signed contract, President Hector Racine announced today. In 1939, Wicker won 11 and lost 18 for the International Baseball League club.

The Angel Tackles Tartar

The Angel will have Ernest Franz Hefner, "bad man champion," as an opponent at the Arena tonight.

Hefner has been winning steadily, and is of the opinion that he will add The Angel to his list of victims. Hefner insists that The Angel has frightened most of his opponents into defeat.

"I do not believe The Angel is a great wrestler," said Hefner. "He is a grotesque looking creature, and I believe that most of his rivals have been beaten by his appearance rather than by his ability as a grappler."

The Angel will try to win with his "bear hug." This is the hold he used to win over "Bibber" McCoy and other American rivals.

The tussle between Casey and Westenberg should be as stirring as the meeting between The Angel and Hefner.

ARENA PROGRAM

THE ANGEL, France, vs. ERNEST FRANZ HEFNER, Texas. (Best two falls in three.)

STEVE CASEY, Ireland, vs. MARVIN WESTENBERG, Washington.

BOBBY MANAGOFF, Chicago, vs. RALPH GARIBALDI, Italy. (One fall to win.)

FRANK JUDSON, Attleboro, vs. LEO LEFEBVE, Montreal.

PEDRO BRAZIL, Rio de Janeiro, vs. JACK MARSHALL, Colorado.

First bout at 8:15.

Tordiglione Seeks 5th Win

Billy Tordiglione, North End, one of the best prospects to appear on the fight horizon in years hereabouts, goes after his fifth straight professional win Friday night at the Arena in a six-round preliminary to the Henry Chmielewski-Babe Verila 12-round feature for the N. E. middleweight championship.

Matchmaker Rip Valenti of the Goodwin A. C. has signed a tough customer for Tordiglione in Billy Connerty, Jamaica Plain, and handing hard-hitting Billy his first six-round assignment.

Tordiglione feels he is ready for rougher company and longer distances and thinks he'll keep climbing if Connerty's expense and by a k. o. victory.

Harvard Doctor Bans Lightbody From IC4A Meet

Dr. Augustus Thorndike of Harvard announced last night that Jim Lightbody, the Harvard track leader, has been scratched from the IC4A 600-yard race because of a strained muscle received in practice.

Lightbody didn't feel the injury until yesterday when it began to bother him considerably. The Harvard medico worked on the Harvard athlete, but failed to correct the ailment.

Lightbody was one of seven Harvard athletes entered in the Intercollegiates at New York this Saturday. The Glencoe Flyer was conceded by the Gotham dopesters as having an even chance of upsetting the titleholder, Jim Herbert of N. Y. U.

Tennis Threat

Boards Hinder Riggs

NEW YORK, Feb. 28 (AP)—A picture player with all the style and grace that title implies, Don McNeill has impressed himself on observers at the national indoor tennis championships as the man Bobby Riggs will have to beat.

Outdoors, Riggs, as national and Wimbledon champion and No. 1 in the country, would be the pronounced favorite in any tournament he entered. But on the boards, to which he is a comparative stranger, Chicago's "Dead End Kid" is no better than even money against the Oklahoma City youngster who won his title two years ago.

McNeill's forcing game is suited ideally to the 7th Regiment Armory courts. He starts with an authoritative service, keeps the ball in play briefly with fine length and pace off forehand or backhand, and then goes to the net to finish off his opponent with smash or volley, both of which he has developed to a fine art.

But while Don must be ranked with the best indoors or on clay, where he won the French hard court title last summer, he still has doubts as to his ability to play on grass.

Since the national title at Forest Hills and the No. 1 ranking for 1940 will be the major objectives in this Davis Cup-less year, McNeill was asked point blank where he would rate himself in those two sweepstakes.

"No better than 10 to 1," said Don. "There still are too many guys who beat me on grass. Must be half a dozen—Riggs, Elwood Cooke, Gil Hunt, Joe Hunt, for instance—I couldn't ever be sure of beating."

All of which goes to prove the inconclusiveness of board court play.

Stengel's Pitchers Proficient With Bat

BRADENTON, Fla., Feb. 28—Casey Stengel's broad grin apparently means he can pick pitchers who can hit, whether or not they can pitch. Wilbur McElroy, youngster from the University of Southern California and picked up by Casey for the Boston Bees, belted a 400-foot home run over the fence yesterday with two on board.

Three stitches were required to close the wound. Sanblock is expected to be out for several days.

The inter-camp game between teams piloted by Jack Onslow, Hartford manager, and Bob Coleman, Evansville manager, went to the Onslows by an 11 to 4 count, partly as a result of a 400-foot homer hit by Wilbur McElroy, pitcher, over the left field fence with two on base in the fourth.

ORLANDO, Fla.—Buddy Lewis, Washington's regular third baseman the past few seasons, is taking regular turns in the outfield in preparation for a permanent assignment there, Coach Clyde Milan, handling the conversion of the hard-hitting infielder into a fly chaser, says Buddy's hardest task will be changing his style of throwing from sidearm to overhand.

• • •

WINTER HAVEN, Fla. — Ray Blaemire, young catcher from Nashville, may get a regular job with the New York Giants, if he can grab his opportunity. Boss Bill Terry has shown considerable interest in the rookie and so has Coach Frank Snyder, who spent a lot of time coaching him on how to shift for outside pitches. Just to make Blaemire's chance look better, Terry benched Harry Danning yesterday because he struck out six times in two previous camp games.

• • •

TAMPA, Fla.—Joe Beggs, pitcher who came to the Cincinnati Reds from the Yankees in the deal for Lee Grissom, thinks he'll "do all right" with the Reds, if given a chance to pitch regularly.

"I've burned up every minor league I've been in," he explained, "and I am sure I would have done the same in the American League, if the Yankees had given me a chance to strut my stuff."

• • •

CLEARWATER, Fla. — Larry MacPhail, Brooklyn Dodgers president, is peeved at holdouts Dolf Camilli and Cookie Lavagetto and doesn't care who knows it.

"I'm through with Camilli," he announced yesterday. "My office has instructions not to keep the contract he returns more than five minutes. Just fire it right back." Larry also said he had made his final offer to Lavagetto, in camp here.

• • •

FORT MYERS, Fla.—Cleveland's Indians open training today with 15 pitchers, three catchers and a few early-bird infielders and outfielders on hand. Manager Oscar Vitt's program calls for morning workouts, but with no heavy work the first few days.

• • •

PASADENA, Cal.—The Chicago White Sox lined up for their opening drill today with three holdouts —Pitcher Clint Brown, Second Baseman Jack Hayes and Outfielder Mike Kreevich—still a front-office problem. Kreevich is reported to have turned down a $6000 raise.

• • •

AVALON, Cal.—Manager Gabby Hartnett of the Chicago Cubs, following his "reform" program, continues to be a jolly fellow in camp despite the absence of holdouts Diz Dean, Augie Galan and Hank Leiber, and the fact that Catcher Al Todd reported overweight The second squad is due tomorrow, and Leiber and Galan may be with it.

• • •

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla.—Lefty Gomez, who already has offered Lee Grissom his title as "pop-off" champion of the New York Yankees, is impressed with the newcomer's ability to pitch, as well as to talk. After watching Grissom burn them past the batters in midseason style yesterday, Gomez commented: "If you're on the level with that no-previous-practice stuff, you'd better take it easier or you'll spoil a good arm."

• • •

ANAHEIM, Cal.—The Philadelphia Athletics practice has its light as well as serious side. Although the camp was worried yesterday about Benny McCoy's sore arm, which Benny says is something that happens every spring and soon disappears, the players got some fun out of fielding oranges which four Anaheim girls tossed at them for the benefit of photographers.

• • •

• • •

PHILADELPHIA—Syl Johnson, coach of the Phillies batterymen, who takes a regular turn on the mound himself, was optimistic as the Phils left today for their Miami Beach training camp. "I think we should have a much better team this season than last," he said. "I'm in great shape and expect to win ten games or more."

• • •

LAKELAND, Fla.—Manager Del Baker of Detroit praised Tom Seats, former St. Louis Cardinals farmhand, after sizing him up yesterday. "I don't know whether he will eventually become one of the stars of the league, but he has plenty of stuff," said Del.

Snow Train Time Change

The Sunday "Snow Train" of the Boston & Maine Railroad will next Sunday head for North Conway and Intervale, it was announced today.

Leaving time of the last section has been advanced.

The first section will leave the North Station as soon after 7:30 a. m., as it is loaded, and the second section will leave "on the dot" at 8 o'clock.

The second section will make a suburban stop at Reading at 8:15 a. m.

Tech Natators Face Ducking From Harvard

Harvard's undefeated webfooters are expected to splash M. I. T. right out of the Harvard pool tonight as the Crimson tune up for one of their toughest matches of the season against Princeton on Saturday.

New records may be made tonight when Eric Cutler, Fran Powers, and Art Bosworth will make an assault on the records. Cutler is the outstanding distance swimmer in intercollegiate circles this year and he is ready to break at least one Harvard record before he graduates.

M. I. T., which has revived swimming this year, has outstanding divers in Dave Howard and Johnnie Sexton from Winchester.

Capt. Russell Schuler of Tech is an outstanding freestyler and holds the Engineers' record in the 50-yard freestyle event.

Harvard Goalie Out for Season

Vin Freedley, goalie of the Harvard varsity hockey team, was out of the game for the rest of the season because of a triple fracture of the cheek bone.

He will be replaced by Abbot Feen, sophomore.

B. C., B. U. Sixes Close With Wins

Boston College's New England championship hockey team closed its season defeating M. I. T., 4-3, for its 10th straight victory at the Arena.

In the other half of the double bill, B. U. closed its campaign with a 5-1 verdict over New Hampshire.

Ray Chaisson's third period tally cracked a 3-3 deadlock and clinched the tilt for the Eagles.

Al Dumond scored two and Bob Mee, the other for B. C., while George Kaneb flashed the light twice for Tech and Jim Cadogan shot home the other.

Sam Shaw Passes Sixtieth Milestone

Samuel J. Shaw, of Brookline, popular judge of horse shows in both America and Canada, today celebrates his sixtieth birthday.

Mr. Shaw, it will be remembered, was the first person to recognize the potentialities of Seaton Pippin the great pacer.

Seaton Pippin, who is to harness racing what Man o' War is to turf racing, was awarded his first blue ribbon by Mr. Shaw.

Hilltop Skeeters To Defend Title

One of the most remarkable records in sport will be at stake when Robert W. (Bob) Canfield, and his Hilltoppers, representing the Hilltop Skeet Club, Eastern States champions, defend their Middle Atlantic States skeet championship against 25 crack teams March 2 and 3, at Lake Loantaka, New Jersey.

Lake Says:

Connie Mack and George Stallings notwithstanding. He might be the smartest manager that ever lived and still see his strategy go sour because of dumb execution on the field.

"I might ask you, do you think that Joe McCarthy of the Yankees would have won four pennants in a row with the St. Louis Browns? No! Ninety per cent of any pennant battle is in the hands of the players."

One of our fellow reporters had described the Sox as the potential bombshell of the American League. Did that mean they might blow up by July?

"I'm sincere in thinking that we have the proper fielding and hitting balance," said Hugh. "There's a good pitching nucleus in Grove, Wilson, Rich, Ostermueller, Dickman, Heving and Wagner. We're bound to be the league trouble maker."

Hughie listened to the dinner gong, harrumphed in his throat, puckered his lips and frowned. "There's no magic in baseball," he concluded. "It's playing percentage, putting in the best pitcher available, and if he isn't getting anywhere, yanking him out and putting in the next best pitcher. The rest is up to the boys. That doesn't sound like magic does it?"

BOURQUE RETURNS

NEW HAVEN, Ct., Feb. 28 (INS)—Claude Bourque, who recently was farmed out to the New Haven Eagles by the parent hockey team, the Montreal Canadiens, will return to the big league immediately, team officials disclosed here.

Ski Scribblings

BY "TAP" GOODENOUGH

ALPINE CONDITIONS greeted record-breaking crowds last week-end as skiing stock soared skyward . . . Snow-hungry skiers found real powder in plenty at last at all regions, and joyous cries of "Track!" echoed on all slopes and trails. White hills were peppered with animated black dots of flying figures on singing skis . . . Thousands jammed Pico Peak and Woodstock, Vt.; Plymouth, the Eastern Slopes Region, the Newfound Region and Ossipee in New Hampshire all were invaded by armies of schussers, as were every other available spot in New England . . . Powder snow!

At the Gilford-Laconia Area, N. H., on Sunday, we enjoyed the best running we've had in years! Trails were so smooth that we were able to make one thrilling descent after another, then to be whisked again to the top on the Chair Tramway. Following Niles Pierpont and Fred Nachbaur was grand sport and good experience . . .

Hundreds were skiing here on Phelps Open Slope in gay abandon and rhythm as music was wafted with the wind from recordings inside the Ski Hut . . . A nice idea! . . . Pretty gals on the Ski Patrol were floating about, ready to administer First Aid to any willing male . . . On Washington's Birthday, 'twas reported that 3000 skiers were in the Area . . . A chummy crowd! . . . The new 1750-foot tow on Cobble Mountain was running, and we tried this slope also, not to be outdone . . . The long week-end was indeed a most perfect one for all . . . And so the real skiing starts . . .

* * *

Riding the Boston and Maine Snow Train Sunday prompted many musings: The skiing snowball was first started rolling by the Snow Train. Begun ten years ago as a novelty, it is now an institution, and from it have emanated many expert skiers . . . We recall the crowds on the train a few years back; few knew what it was all about, and everyone was out for a good time.

The majority of those early pioneers skied in toe straps. Bindings were regarded as unsafe and seemed like some sort of bear traps! . . . Queer outfits were worn by all, many donning stocking caps and riding pants. Overshoes and high heels were used for ski boots . . . But, today everybody is expertly attired and equipped; you can't tell an instructor from a pupil, until they ski! And all take their skiing seriously . . . One routine on the train that hasn't changed, however, is the general waxing of skis one hour away from Boston, while many still eat their lunches at 10:30 in the morning, and then get fully clad an hour before the train arrives at the snow fields . . . But it's fun, clean and healthy for all . . .

* * *

SLALOM SOLILOQUIES: Most remarkable racing performance of last Sunday was that turned in by ALLEN RODDAY of the New Hampton Outing Club when he finished third to two such F. I. S. stars as Toni Matt and Herbert Schneider in the first annual open slalom of the Eastern Slope Ski Club down Cranmore Mountain at North Conway, N. H. . . . Bob Emerson, another F. I. S. racer, was fourth in a field of 55 men, while Sue Sise of Schneehaserl won the Women's Open Division . . . The course, nearly a mile in length, was replete with hairpin turns and flushes over icy ledges, and called for two heats . . . Rodday is coming along fast in slalom circles, and this is his first year in major competition. He recently received his "B" rating as a racer in the U. S. E. A. S. A., and is a steady, speedy, and very consistent skier.

The course record set last week on Mt. Greylock's Thunderbolt trail at Adams, Mass., by Alex Bright of Boston's Hochgebirge Club was again smashed Sunday by Bob Livermore of the same club! Displaying Olympic form, Bob flew the mile and a quarter in two minutes, 19 4-10 seconds, at streamlined speed! . . . Wendy Cram, High School junior from Woodstock, Vermont, was a close second, with

* * *

SKI SCOOP: To the Harvard skiing pals of Bryce Santry, acrobat and DD de luxe: Your chum is appearing in the show at the Bradford Roof all this week . . . Maybe he'll put on his skis and try to jump off! . . . Anyway, we're curious to know if he attempts any "christies" in his act . . .

* * *

JUMP JOTTINGS; The snow stage is all set for the Eastern jumping championships at Gilford-Laconia on Sunday next . . . The cross-country race will be held on Saturday . . . Conditions for this meet are the best in years, and the jumping hill is in superb shape . . . Gov. Francis P. Murphy of New Hampshire will be among the thousands of spectators watching supple skiers soar into space . . . Several of the best leapers of the Middle West's central division of the National Ski Association are now on hand, and are seen practicing daily on the giant take-off . . . Carl Holstrom and Hans Strand, both Class A jumpers representing the Bee Mountain Sports Association, have sent in entries, as have the best in the country . . . The great Torger Tokle, beaten for the first time this season at the nationals in Berlin, N. H., last week, is ready to redeem himself and may set a new record for this jump . . . Incidentally, those who visit the area just to ski next week-end will not be required to purchase tickets to the jumping meet . . .

* * *

SKI CLUB CHATTER: Members of the Oxhoni Ski Club of Boston hope that another blizzard won't arrive tomorrow night to block their dance and ski party at the Hotel Myles Standish in the Captain's Cabin . . . Anyway, everyone is going to bring snow shoes!

. . . A pair of skis will be raffled off here for the benefit of the National Ski Patrol . . .

Henry Fling, Oscar Cyr's chief assistant instructor, has joined the Woodstock Ski Runners . . . A grand husband-wife racing team are Brad and Janet Mead of Vermont's Otter Ski Club. Both enter many meets . . . The Nansen Ski Club of Berlin, N. H., will start construction of their 1500-foot ski tow during the coming summer.

* * *

SKI SHOTS: In Maine, the first annual Bridgton Winter Carnival will run Friday through Sunday . . . Sanctioned Class C ski races will be featured events, as well as choosing Miss Maine Carnival Queen, together with the New England Sled Dog Races and the ten mile National Championship Snowshoe Marathon on Highland Lake.

"A sponge in the boot is worth two in the tub!" says fair-haired Gertrude Wepsala, the Finnish girl from Vancouver . . . This comely lass, who is Canadian women's downhill and slalom champ, is now training at Maligne Lake Chalet in Jasper National Park . . . Gertie has found that by binding a sponge, preferably green, about her sock, she is able to protect her ankle from some of the strain involved in a two-mile downhill run at 40 or 50 miles an hour.

Red Rollings New Pine Bluff Leader

PINE BLUFF, Ark., Feb. 28 (AP)—W. R. "Red" Rollings of Mobile, Ala., former Boston Red Sox infielder and last year a coach with Montreal, will manage the Pine Bluff club in the Cotton States League this year. He was signed last night.

Rollings managed Tyler of the East Texas League in 1938.

Mr. Boston

By JACK CONWAY

THE ANNOUNCEMENT that there will be a Grand Circuit race meeting at Narragansett Park from July 20 through August 3 was cheerful news to the thousands of people who are interested in the trotters and the pacers. Billy Ames of Narragansett Park will be General Manager of the meeting.

There will be a notable array of celebrities associated with the Rhode Island Trotting Association that will sponsor the 13-day meeting. Included in the number will be E. Roland Harriman, president of the Grand Circuit, who will serve as a director.

Charles W. Phellis of Greenwich, Ct., a retired Dupont partner, will be president; Elbridge T. Gerry of New York, a nephew of Senator Peter Gerry of Rhode Island, will be secretary-treasurer, while Al Saunders, for many years associated with Grand Circuit activities, will act as Racing Secretary.

It will be the first time in 33 years that a Grand Circuit meeting has been allotted to Rhode Island. At the time of the last Grand Circuit meeting in Rhode Island all betting was done through hand books and auction pools. Harness horse men will now be able to wager through a modern mutuel plant.

In an effort to make the Narragansett meeting one of national importance, the Grand Circuit has awarded to the Rhode Island Trotting Ass'n the $25,000 National Stakes, the $9000 American stakes for 3-year-old trotters, the $3000 American stake for 3-year-old pacers and the American stakes for 2-year-olds.

Most of these purses will be made up of nomination and entry fees which will be paid by the horsemen.

Expect Greyhound to Race at Narragansett

In the Summer of 1938 I made a special trip to Agawam Park to see Greyhound in action. He is one of the finest specimens of horse flesh in the world.

Following the race I visited Greyhound as he cooled off in front of his barn. When I approached the great horse, he stopped for a few seconds and he permitted me to pat his head. He was as gentle as Dan, the little beagle dog the young Bostons had at Scituate last Summer.

Many stories have been written as to what would happen if Greyhound were to meet Seabiscuit, Kayak II, Woof Woof or one of the other top running horses.

Conditions are so different between the races for the standard-bred horses and the thoroughbreds that it would be impossible to get a true test of ability. Trotters and pacers pull a gig with a driver who often weighs 180 pounds. Pack that kind of weight on a thoroughbred and he wouldn't even break.

Most of the owners of the leading trotters and pacers are men of wealth who are more interested in the sport than they are out of any possible profit from the game. Grand Circuit meetings at Old Orchard, Me., Agawam and at Rockingham Park have been considered successful if they broke even.

I HAVE FREQUENTLY seen owners of Grand Circuit horses give the entire winning purse to their trainer, while they would purchase $50 win tickets for other persons in their employ. These wealthy men get their thrills out of seeing their colors come down in front in a stirring race.

When the Grand Circuit meeting opens at Narragansett, Paul Bowser will have some of his trotters and pacers ready to try for the purses. Paul developed Tara and DeSoto into champions. Like most Grand Circuit owners, Bowser likes to have a hand in the training of his horses, and helps work them out mornings at Fair Oaks Farm in Lexington where he has one of the finest half-mile tracks in the East.

For the present, Bowser will restrict his attentions to The Angel, 270-pound French heavyweight who meets Ernest Franz Hefner at the Arena tonight. Wrestling is Paul's business, but with the arrival of summer he will get around to his pleasure which is racing trotters and pacers.

Incidentally the running horses will be breaking out of the Puett starting gate at the spring meeting on April 17. This is the day after the Bees and Dodgers open the major league baseball season in Boston. Even with tons of snow parked around my home in Jamaica Plain spring does not seem so far away.

Puett Gate Will Prove Popular Here

IT WAS CHAIRMAN Charles F. Connors of the Massachusetts Racing Commission who first suggested that New England tracks use the Puett starting gate, and I am glad Suffolk Downs, Narragansett Park and Rockingham Park have decided to do so. The Puett gate will help local racing. It will get the horses off to even starts, and will avoid the wrestling matches some of the assistant starters used to have with unruly post actors.

I have seen assistant starters get angry when a thoroughbred has pushed them around. They have administered punishment to the horse that deprived him of whatever chance he had of winning. On such occasions I was not as much concerned with the money the public lost as I was with the treatment that was accorded a dumb animal.

The Puett gate speeds up the operation of the races. It also eliminates the complaint that certain assistant starters were under instructions to delay the break so as to help the mutuel handle. In Maryland, California, and in Florida, racegoers have learned that they must bet early or be shut out.

The daily mutuel average of $500,000 at Hialeah would indicate that few bettors are being deprived of their right to wager as a result of the speed with which the Puett gate gets the thoroughbreds on their way.

Two N.E.A.A.U. Titles at Stake In Tank Meet

The Brookline Swimming Club will stage its 44th annual meet tomorrow night at the municipal pool at 8 p. m.

The national A. A. U. junior 160 yards free style for men tops the list of an eight-card program William Riddick of Worcester Polytech looms as the new titleholder, but will have some stiff opposition from Bill Runge, Boston Y.; Danny Regan, Lowell, and Andy Babuls of the Olneyville Boys' Club of Providence.

The two N. E. A. A. A. U. titles on the program are junior diving for men and junior 150 yards medley relay for the women.

The prominent contenders for the diving crown are John Noonan, Brockton, Meehan's intedscholastic champion; Henry Heywood, Gardner, who has been placing consistently in the diving, and Earl Innes, Brookline Club, and Bob Arron of the Boys' Club, Charlestown. There are 15 entries and trials will be held at 4.30 p. m.

Doris Brennan, Olneyville Boys' Club Auxiliary, N. E. all-around queen and national medley titleholder, along with Edna Soltysiak, a teammate, are entered in the 100-yard freestyle handicap for women.

In addition, there are three handicap races, 100-yard back stroke, open; 50-yard free style and 50 back, both for Brookline S. C. members, and 150-yard medley relay, open, all for men.

Medford Sextet Beaten in N. E. Series

The Hingham hockey six eliminated the Medford Hockey Club 2-1 and the Amesbury Maples retired East Boston 13-3 in the N. E. A. A. U. title series at the Garden.

The Medford six keenly felt the need of two of their men, Dick Peckham and Bob Chipman, who were unable to appear, thereby breaking up the scoring power.

Zannelli, White Top Fight Card

The eight-round semi-final brings together Dusty Brown of Fall River and Cerefino Broncho, another Fall River favorite. This is a main bout in itself. Thre heavyweight preliminaries fill out the Price program.

TODAY A YEAR AGO—Jack Tidball eliminated Sidney Wood, 2—6 6—3, 6—4, 7—5, 7—5, in quarter finals of National Indoor Tennis Tournament.

FIVE YEARS AGO—Babe Ruth, given big welcome by Boston fans as he arrived to sign contract with Braves, warned by C. F. Adams, controlling stockholder of club, that he must prove his managerial ability before being given full charge of team in 1936.

Fire Marshal Bars Fans

He explained the fans might get excited and yell, and if there was yelling the fourth floor gym might crash through to the third floor auditorium. Benjamin Franklin won the hide-and-go-seek game, 42-22.
